THE 1950 Kedskin

HE YEAR 1950 was, in many ways, the greatest in Oklahoma A. & M. College history. The college enrollment was the largest, the school's achievements were outstanding, the dances and parties were the most successful and friendships were stronger. The Redskin has tried to capture the fleeting moments on an all too short college year for you who have been a part of it. To those who have helped to make Oklahoma A. & M. great in 1950, the Redskin presents this . . . a profile.

... within this division are grouped the vitally important components which make up the Oklahoma A. & M. College. In presenting these parts, the integral composition of the administrative departments, the faculty and the classes are brought together so that one is able to see our college—one of the nation's leading institutions of learning—in its entire scope. In this division, then, you will find a pictorial record of those who govern, those who teach, and those who learn.

GOV. ROY J. TURNER

In appreciation of Oklahoma's chief executive whose democratic leadership has made progress the keynote of his administration; for his broad program of developing this state's natural resources; for his policies of broadest opportunities for its commonwealth and for his sincere representation of its citizenry . . . we pay tribute to Roy J. Turner, governor of the State of Oklahoma.

A Message

DR. HENRY G. BENNETT President of Oklahoma A. & M. College from Dr. HENRY G. BENNETT

"Industry, economy, honesty and kindness form a quartet of virtues that will never be improved upon."

— James Oliver

In a balanced equation of life, we are looking for a common factor of the particular problem . . . in the knowledge that solutions and approaches to these are the special virtues of the educated.

In the past, present and future, dwell the dimensions of opportunities for college men and women; by plan, industry and determination, do we, in part, measure success; and in the personal attributes of preparedness, integrity and good will, we move a little nearer the goal.

In a world that brooks only change . . . the assets of the individual these days, are broadly governed by education. I think we have but to observe a single graduation ceremony to become richly conscious of the multiple values attached to this special feat on the part of the individual or the collective group.

Symbolic of purpose and plan, the student of this age is equipping himself with the implements by which he etches more satisfactorily the values which he trusts. Purposeful living is the essence.

Education is a vast composite . . . of both mind and matter. How wonderfully well they have blended on our own campus in a dual progress. And behind these are the dimension, the measure of success and attributes that give meaning to purposeful living as well as the virtues embraced in the philosophy of James Oliver. The past year or more has been one of building here. It has not come about by chance, but to the contrary by plan and purpose, based on the square root of the past, present and future. You as students of the college and your predecessors are the ones who have truly built it, you are the Oklahoma A. & M. College.

Emerson said it so well, "a great institution is but the lengthened shadow of a single man," each of you being that individual.

Dr. Bennett cuts the cake at his birthday party held in the fieldhouse.

STATE REGENTS for HIGHER EDUCATION

JOHN H. KANE, Chairman

The Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education, recommended by Governor Lee Cruce in 1911, vitalized by Governor W. J. Holloway through legislation in 1929, created by Governor Wm. H. Murray in 1933, was submitted as a constitutional amendment to the people and passed at a special election, March 11, 1941, during the administration of Governor Leon C. Phillips. The first meeting was held June 16, 1941.

Nine members of the board, appointed by the governor, serve terms from one to nine years, with no two designated from the same congressional district, with no more than four from the same profession or occupation and no more than three graduates or former students from the same institution. Appointments are made with the advice and consent of the senate.

Objectives of the regents are defined as: the development of a consistent state policy for higher education, elimination of duplicated effort, discovery of budgetary needs, to remove inadequacies in present provisions and advance an effective program for higher education, among others.

Administrative officers are M. A. Nash, chancellor, and T. G. Sexton, administrative assistant, Oklahoma City. Officers are John H. Kane, Bartlesville, chairman; W. D. Little, Ada, vice-chairman; Dial Currin, Shawnee, secretary; Guy H. James, Oklahoma City, assistant secretary, and these members—Frank Buttram, Oklahoma City; Clee O. Doggett, Cherokee; Guy N. Harris, Ardmore; Wharton Mathies, Clayton, and John Rogers, Tulsa.

Row 2: Dial Currin, Shawnee; W. D. Little, Ada; John Rogers, Tulsa; Guy H. James, Oklahoma City; Frank Buttram, Oklahoma City.

BOARD of REGENTS

Farsighted wisdom, careful direction and progressive drive characterize the Board of Regents of the Oklahoma A. & M. College. They have matched its facilities and opportunities with the nation's greatest educational institutions.

The present board includes R. T. Stuart, Caddo, chairman; Fred G. Drummond, Hominy, vice-chairman; W. Elmer Harber, Shawnee, secretary; P. E. Harrill, Oklahoma City; Edward T. Davis, Erick; O. L. Lackey, Hitchita; Earl Russell, Duncan; John Pat Carpenter, Red Rock, and Harold Hutton, Clinton.

The board of Regents has the authority and is charged with the responsibility of directing the disposition of all moneys from the sale of bonds and has supervision and charge of all buildings provided for the college under its jurisdiction. The board was created by an amendment designated as 3 Ia, Article 6, in the Oklahoma constitution.

A majority of the board must be farmers and the ninth member is the president of the state board of agriculture. It is provided that the board shall be appointed for eight years each with one term expiring each year.

Vested in the board also is the power to employ teaching staff and the general welfare and progress of the institution, fields in which they have distinguished themselves.

In their sincerity of purpose and plan, board members have guided the destiny of the college to the enviable place of educational service it holds among national centers of learning.

STUDENT SENATE

JOE FRANCIS
President
SHIRLEY JONES
Secretary-Treasurer
JIM SMITH
President Pro-Tempore

Elected by the entire student body, the Student Senate is the legislative branch of the Student association and works to promote student interests and to bring about friendly cooperation between the administration, the faculty and the students.

Perhaps the most important function of the senate is to equally represent the 12,000 students who attend the college in all matters pertaining to their welfare. The senate, which meets weekly, also conducts the spring elections, makes appointments, grants charters to approved organizations and sponsors many all-school pep rallies and dances.

Those elected in the spring of 1949 to serve on the 1949-50 senate were Joe Francis, president; Shirley Jones, secretary-treasurer; Jim Smith, agriculture senator and president pro-tempore; Pat Cosgrove, Bill Kephart and Don Williams, senior senators; Jim Morton and LaVerne Higdon, junior senators; Pat Ellison, sophomore senator; La Jean Higgins, arts and sciences senator; Peggy Lawyer, commerce senator; Lorna Allen, education senator; Morton Elmer, engineering senator; Doris Jean Holmes, home economics senator, and Rod Parker, veterinary medicine senator.

President of the Student association was Zed Grissom, who served capably in that office.

Tom Ritchie, a former senate member, was elected Student Senate president in January upon the resignation of Joe Francis.

The senate began its activities immediately upon the opening of school in September with the sale of freshman caps, the freshman election, queen race and coronation ball. Sadie Hawkins week and dance.

November saw the second annual Leadership conference launched under the auspices of the senate. The purpose of the three-day meet was to introduce new organization officers to the problems and duties of their office and to explain the available agencies on hand to extend aid.

A car pool, the first of its kind at A. & M., was successfully organized in December to locate transportation for out-of-state students attempting to reach home for the Christmas holidays.

Aid for Oklahoma university's fire victims was organized in January by the legislators and more than $400 was collected in four days and sped on its way.

An effective policy was established by the senate in an attempt to clarify "victory holidays" for both students and faculty. A revised and "streamlined" constitution was enacted by the 1949-50 senators and a liaison committee was appointed to operate between the senate and the president's office.

In March, the first state-wide convention of student senators was held at A. & M. with the Aggie senate playing host to representatives from Oklahoma's 33 colleges, universities and junior colleges.

Music for the Junior-Senior prom, another senate project, was furnished by Tommy Dorsey and his band, one of the nation's top "name" bands.

Chairmen of the various committees were Morton Elmer, chairman of the Leadership conference committee; Bill Kephart, publicity; Peggy Lawyer, social, and Jim Norton, elections.

Prof. R. R. Oglesby acted as advisor to the group, combining the proper degree of guidance and free rein. To him goes much of the credit for the success of the 1949-50 Student Senate.

The first organization each Aggie coed joins is the Association of Women Students. Each woman student automatically becomes a member upon enrolling at Oklahoma A. & M. College.

The work of AWS covers the regulation of all matters pertaining to women students which do not fall under the jurisdiction of the faculty.

This work is carried out through an executive board, a legislative board and a judicial board. The executive board is the governing body of the organization and is composed of seven girls representing the Women's Athletic association, Panhellenic, the AWS judicial board, YWCA, Mortar Board, Grand council, and Tau Gamma plus the officers of AWS. Julia E. Stout, dean of women, serves as sponsor of this board.

The legislative board is headed by the AWS vice-president. Its membership is made up of a representative from each sorority and one from each floor of all women's dormitories. Estelle Hammond, assistant to the dean of woman, is their sponsor

The judicial board is composed of five coeds—a sophomore, two juniors, and two from the senior class. Vesta Etchison is the advisor for this group.

The first big event on the AWS calendar this year was the annual "Howdy" picnic for new women students. Throughout the year the group also sponsors a matinee tea for women students, the Campus Chest drive, Sadie Hawkins week, the Aggie Etiquette handbook for freshman women and the installation dinner in the spring.

Deans and Jaculty

Prof. Seaton, Dean Thomas and golf coach Harris take time out from classes and administrative duties for a relaxing game of golf.

DEAN W. L. BLIZZARD

Dean W. L. Blizzard's leadership and the efforts of his staff have made the A. & M. Division of Agriculture internationally famous. The dean, head of the division since 1939, is a graduate of Kansas State college. He has worked to better Oklahoma agriculture for 30 years.

DIVISION of AGRICULTURE

Oklahoma farms and ranches produce nearly $1,000,000,000 of new wealth annually. The Division of Agriculture of Oklahoma A. & M. College serves this important industry in three ways.

The School of Agriculture offers on-the-campus training for those who choose farming, ranching, or one of the many related occupations as their life work. Departments in the school are agricultural economics, agricultural education, agricultural chemistry research, agronomy, animal husbandry, dairy, entomology, forestry, horticulture, poultry, sociology and rural life, and agricultural engineering, the latter administered jointly by the School of Agriculture and the Oklahoma Institute of Technology.

The School of Agriculture's enrollment of approximately 2,300 for 1949-50 is third highest among the nation's agricultural colleges.

The Agricultural Experiment station finds new facts and methods to be used on farms and ranches. The information developed at the college, 12 special research stations over the state and five state-federal stations, is taught in the School of Agriculture.

The Agricultural Extension service working through state and county staffs, carries the information to farm people.

SCHOOL of ARTS and SCIENCES

A liberal education is the offering of the School of Arts and Sciences, headed since 1935 by capable Dean Schiller Scroggs.

Believing emphatically that all college students should have the cultural background characteristic of well-educated men and women, Dean Scroggs has built the A. & M. School of Arts and Sciences into an organization that will provide the essentials as background for vocations, yet can offer highly specialized training in the social, physical and biological sciences and in the humanities.

Operating under this plan, the School of Arts and Sciences has students from every school on the Aggie campus enrolled in its many courses and has gained the reputation of being one of the best arts and sciences schools in the southwest.

The "Mother of Colleges," both historically and logically, the school has had a steady increase in enrollment since the end of the war by students who desire a broad, general education without sacrificing preparation for a demanding specialization as well.

Students enrolled in the School of Arts and Sciences are extended an opportunity to better understand the problems of group living and of their own social and political responsibilities. Once understood, the individual should be able to make a maximum vocational contribution, yet find rich satisfaction in cultural and social experiences also.

DEAN SCHILLER SCROGGS

Dean Schiller Scroggs was graduated from Southeastern State Teachers college, Durant, in 1925. He obtained his master's degree from Columbia in 1932 and his Ph. D. from Yale in 1935. The author of two two books on higher education, as well as numerous articles in national journals, Dean Scroggs has also published two books of poetry.

DEAN RAYMOND D. THOMAS

Dean of the Division of Commerce since 1929, Raymond D. Thomas was graduated from Southwest Missouri State college and received his Ph. M. and Ph. D. degrees from the University of Wisconsin. He served as an army officer in World war I. He is listed as a top economist by "Who's Who in America."

DIVISION of COMMERCE

Since its organization in 1914, the Division of Commerce at Oklahoma A. & M. College has successfully striven to answer the demands of business and government for scientifically trained men and women capable of business leadership.

Two separate schools have been established under the division: the School of Commerce, which offers education for the broad field of business pursuits on the higher or professional level, and the School of Intensive Business, which offers concentrated "practical," or vocation, training.

Guided skillfully by Dean Raymond D. Thomas, a man who believes in his students, the division is built solidly around the knowledge that the business world demands clear minds, ready to accept responsibilities, face realities and live helpfully in society.

With emphasis placed on the development of personal qualities as well as business know-how, the division has established a Commerce Student council, by which students have an opportunity to assert themselves on matters involving the division. The council is given an opportunity to practice democracy by working as an "advisory" branch of the dean's office.

SCHOOL of EDUCATION

A fine system of public education being so fundamental to the well being of a democratic society, the School of Education at A. & M. College has contributed well through the personalities and talents of its more than 2,000 graduates since 1910.

Graduates from A. & M. can be found among the best teachers in almost every community in the state of Oklahoma, as well as in practically every other state in the nation.

In view of the growing demands for excellent teachers, students are given thorough instruction in preparation for teaching at all levels in elementary and secondary schools and in many special fields. In addition, adequate graduate studies are provided for the training of administrative and supervisory personnel guidance functionaries, directors of research and other specialists.

Courses in the School of Education are designed to give teachers a broad cultural background and to qualify them for the types of certificates they desire.

Students from other schools on the campus often take advantage of the opportunities for betterment offered in the School of Education by enrolling in such varied courses as philosophy, photography and religious education, and by using the facilities of the testing bureau.

DEAN WILSON LITTLE

One of two "new" deans on the A. & M. campus, Dr. Wilson Little took over the duties of chief administrator for the School of Education upon the retirement of Dean Emeritus N. Conger in 1948. A native of Texas, Dean Little holds degrees from North Texas State Teachers college and Texas university.

DEAN D. C. McINTOSH

The Graduate school was formed at A. & M. in 1929 by its present dean, Dr. D. C. McIntosh. Scholarly and unassuming, Dean McIntosh was graduated from the University of Indiana in 1913, and has additional degrees in agriculture and pharmacy—Ph. G., Indianapolis College of Pharmacy; A. B., A. M. and Ph. D., Indiana university.

GRADUATE SCHOOL

With the post-war demand for specialists in the various fields of business and government, the enrollment figures of the Oklahoma A. & M. Graduate school have swelled to a new high during the past year.

The upward trend of graduate enrollment indicates the growing awareness that the demands of today's world often exceed the knowledge offered by a bachelor degree.

Dean D. C. McIntosh heads the Graduate school at A. & M. Stressing the development of individual thought and scientific research methods in its education program, the school is designed to put the student "on his own" as much as possible.

The Graduate school, established at A. & M. in 1929, now grants master's degrees in 44 subjects and the doctor of education or doctor of philosophy degree in seven subjects or fields.

The first public examination for a master's degree was held January 15, 1950, when Amos Maxwell, graduate student of history, was examined on his thesis, "The Sequoyah Convention of 1905."

At present, the master's degree has been awarded to 2,949 persons, the first being granted in 1912. Eleven persons have received the doctor's degree at A. & M.

Division of Home Economics

Nationally recognized as one of the top schools of its kind, the Oklahoma A. & M. Division of Home Economics has gained its honored reputation through the unceasing efforts of Dean Nora A. Talbot, who became director in 1923, and her staff.

Moving forward with the belief that the kinds of homes people create are determined by the values they hold, the Division of Home Economics stresses personality development as well as proper home management. Requiring enrollees to study history, English, art and the sciences, the division also suggests journalism, elementary business courses, speech and other subjects to give each student a broad, general background with which to better understand the world in which they must live.

Although the purposes of the Division of Home Economics are primarily to educate women and men for homemaking, attention is also given to the training of women and men for professional positions requiring home economics know-how.

Since the first home economics class was requested by the men in 1925, the enrollment of men in a traditional feminine stronghold has gained steadily. Not only do they take the course "Home Economics for Men," but they also take majors or elect courses from every department in the division. The departments of hotel administration and restaurant management, begun in 1937, were made into a School of Hotel and Restaurant administration in 1948.

DEAN NORA A. TALBOT

Dean Nora A. Talbot, known nationally as a leader in the field of home economics, is an A. & M. graduate. She received her master's degree from Columbia university and did administrative work at Harvard university. Charming and poised, the dean is the co-author of two high school books on home life.

DEAN EDWARD R. STAPLEY

Dean Edward R. Stapley, head of the Institute of Technology, is ranked among the top engineers of the nation. Listed in Who's Who in America, in Engineering, American Men of Science and in Who's Who in American Education, Stapley served as acting dean from 1942-47 and was appointed dean in December, 1947. He holds degrees from Cornell and Harvard universities.

OKLAHOMA INSTITUTE of TECHNOLOGY

As viewed at the Oklahoma Institute of Technology, the engineering profession is not just a matter of slide rules, formulas and technical information. It also requires good citizenship and a feeling of social responsibility.

The faculty and staff of O. I. T. have met the challenge of the times with signal success, under the leadership of Dean Edward R. Stapley and other officials.

The name O. I. T. indicates the organization's scope of activities. The institute serves Oklahoma and its citizens under three main divisions of work: Instruction, research and extension. Faced with the largest enrollment of any school on the campus during recent years, it has maintained highest standards while meeting the need for expansion of all its facilities.

Undergraduate and graduate work is based on the principle that "we are teaching students, not courses." Industrial development in Oklahoma is aided through research at O. I. T. Extension courses are available to industrial and civil employes.

SCHOOL of VETERINARY MEDICINE

Oklahoma A. & M. College added a new school to its curriculum in the spring of 1948 when the School of Veterinary Medicine was established and approved—making it the college's eighth complete branch of study.

More than 90 students are now enrolled in the school. The school has four departments within it. They are the department of anatomy, pathology, surgery and veterinary medicine.

A four-story brick building to house the new school is being completed west of the campus and will be ready for use next fall. It will offer ample classroom and laboratory facilities and will boast every modern convenience necessary for study.

The courses in the veterinary medicine school have been designed to fit the graduate for many fields of activity. A partial list includes private practice, teaching, service with city, state, or nation government health bureaus, as well as with dairies, ranches and private business.

An intensive four-year course is required in the school, with a two-year preprofessional program completed before admission into the school is granted.

DEAN C. H. McELROY

Dean C. H. McElroy, or Dean "Mac," as he is known to all, has been with A. & M. for more than 40 years. He served as dean of men and as dean of the former School of Science and Literature before taking over as head of the School of Veterinary Medicine in 1948. He is a graduate of A. & M. and St. Joseph Veterinary college.

DEAN O. K. CAMPBELL

Dean of students for the past two years, Dean Olen Kenneth Campbell received his first appointment at Oklahoma A. & M. College in 1939 as chairman of counsellors of men's residence halls. He has also served as an associate professor of education. During the war, Dean Campbell served as a captain in the U. S. airforce.

DEAN of STUDENTS

The duties of the office of dean of students consist of a composite of many administrative and student activities.

Created in 1948 under the direction of Dean O. K. Campbell, the office has as its function the counselling and orientation of new students, the guidance of the student senate and other campus organizations and the general advising of all men students.

Dean Campbell completed his second year as dean of students at A. & M. and has been responsible for instituting the Leadership conference on the campus, as well as attempting to establish closer unity between students and the college.

The dean has worked in an advisory capacity with the student senate during the past year and keeps in close touch with the workings of A. & M.'s 200 campus organizations.

Dean Campbell came to A. & M. in 1939 as chairman of counsellors of men's residence halls and professor in the School of Education. Later he was appointed acting head of the educational administration department in the School of Education in addition to his former position.

A graduate of Southeastern State college, the dean received his M. A. at Columbia university.

DEAN of WOMEN

Young women coming to Oklahoma A. & M. College for the first time are welcomed by the college's official hostess, Dean Julia Stout.

The position of advising and looking after the welfare of all women students in social, financial and scholastic matters is handled by Dean Stout, who has held the office of dean of women since 1928.

The office of dean of women is, in many ways a clearing house for the college activities since all social functions on the campus attended by coeds must have the approval of the dean.

Housing arrangements for women students are under the guidance of Dean Stout, who acts also as advisor to the executive committee of AWS, Women's Pan-Hellenic council and Grand council. These organizations govern both independent and sorority living groups.

The counselling system in women's residence halls at A. & M. is under the direction of the office of the dean of women. Head counselor is Mrs. Anna Stringfield.

The women's student employment service is directed by Mrs. Estelle Hammond, assistant to the dean. Bernadine Brock is secretary.

DEAN JULIA E. STOUT

Dean of women for 22 years at Oklahoma A. & M. College, Dean Julia Stout has helped thousands of coeds make the transition from home life to college life as smooth as possible. A special student at DePauw university for three years, Dean Stout received her B.S., M. A., and professional diploma from Columbia University.

Activities

The sub-current of academic college life is the multifarious activities carried on by students during all hours of the day and evening. Individual participation in the many opportunities for self-expression adds the spice and contrast to formal education and gilds the overall picture of hard work. The student who fills his day with extra-curricular work and play takes the most painless but pre-eminent course offered in school—learning to love to the fullest life with those around you.

Veterans Village is an emergency housing project for married veterans and their families attending Oklahoma A. & M. College. It is located northwest of the college campus.

The village was first occupied in January, 1946. There are approximately 1,200 married veterans in the village at the present time and, with their wives and children, give the village a total population of approximately 3,600.

The village has its own fire department, maintenance department, police department, grocery store, post office, dispensary and laundry. In addition, it has a large recreation hall and three nursery buildings.

A village council is organized with a mayor and vice-mayor to help solve the community problems. All members of the council are required to take a course in municipal government for which they receive college credit. This course is carried on in connection with their council work and is a unique experiment in training students for public service.

The Mooney Recreation center is under the control of a recreation commission appointed by the village council. Each village resident pays a fee of 50 cents a semester to finance the program of activities and secure additional equipment for the recreation center.

The recreation center provides a sewing room equipped with sewing machines and cutting tables for the use of wives of the villagers. A hobby shop equipped with wood-working machines and a dark room for film developing are also provided. Courses are organized in pre-natal and child care for the wives of villagers. Arts and crafts are also taught in the recreation center through the Homemakers club, an organization of village wives.

Mrs. Sam Best buys groceries at the village commissary.

The three nurseries in the village are operated under the direction of the Division of Home Economics of the college. Children of pre-school age go to nursery school either in the morning or in the afternoon. One nursery is an all-day nursery for the children of mothers who are working.

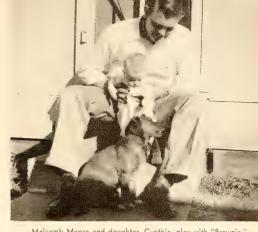

The Veterans Village fire department has its own station and two fire trucks with modern equipment including two-way radio communication. The members of the village fire department are students in the college fire protection courses and receive valuable training in this work.

The villagers have organized a Blue Cross plan insuring hospital care for their families at a nominal monthly fee. Over one-half of the village residents belong to this group.

Recently a justice of the peace district was organized for Veterans Village by the Payne county commissioners. The village is now able to secure rigid enforcement of state traffic laws within the village area. Villagers have been appointed to serve as justice of the peace and as constable until the next regular election.

At the present time there are approximately 130 children of school age in the village attending Stillwater public schools. The Stillwater public schools furnish school bus service to transport the village children to school.

Married veterans who live in Veterans Village are not only securing a college education, but they are also securing valuable training in community living. They are forming lasting friendships and learning to solve their community problems in a democratic manner.

THE 1950 REDSKIN

AL JOHNDROW, Exitor

Few people who pick up a REDSKIN and casually turn its pages realize that into the volume which they hold so lightly has gone many thousand man-hours of desperate labor on the part of student staff members who gave voluntarily of their free time so that in years to come, you might have an accurate and pictorial record of a year's activities. The 1950 REDSKIN is no exception to this point.

Long remembered will be the frantic hours spent in assembling and checking class panels so that the December engraving deadline might be met. We made it, of course, but it could not have been accomplished without the unceasing drive of an excellent staff and the cooperation of you, the student body.

Almost as tough was the assembly and writing of organization pictures and copy, which was a job to be contended with all during the year. All in all, it was quite an experience.

Heading the aggregation, of course, was Editor Al Johndrow. Johndrow, who was associate editor of the 1949 book, was selected in May 1949, and immediately started planning this year's REDSKIN. He spent the summer putting ideas into dummy form so that when school started, everything was in readiness. Al then spent the rest of the year supervising the staff, being married and trying to graduate.

The associate editor slot was admirably filled by Barney K. Neal, who arrived on the scene in the fall newly married. His was the job of selling pages and handling all business matters and he always came through with the goods.

Just about the most important member of the staff was ex-Aggie Charlot Holzkamper who came newly married to the REDSKIN as secretary. She was the one who always knew where everything was and what needed to be done.

Helping on the typing and class sections was Elmerta Stauffer, who made quite a name for herself as the hardest working girl on the staff. Don Tucker was our fast talking, fast thinking sports editor from Connecticut. Organizations are tough to handle and doing that job we had Jerry Vater, an aspiring young democrat.

BARNEY K. NEAL, JR., Associate Editor

Terry Leard gave us some help at crucial times, as did Ludie Kinney, who dropped in spasmodically to help things along. Betty Jelsma and Janie Wells did their bit to keep the staff in good humor with their good-natured ribbing. Incidentally, they often worked, too. Merky Miles was the beauty editor who handled the queen entries.

Assistant Editors

Terry Leard, feature editor, can't believe his eyes as Don Tucker, sports editor, and Jerry Vater, organization editor, exhibit pictures of REDSKIN beauty queen winners.

The workhorses of the REDSKIN staff, "Merky" Miles, Elmerta Stauffer and Charlot Holz-kamper, as they assemble and type class section identification.

Staff Members

Shirley Edmondson, Betty Jelsma, Janie Wells and Ludie Kinney found that filing class pictures with the correct identification was a long and gruelling job.

O'COLLEGIAN

HEREERT WILLIAMS Egirer fort competer

The 1949-50 publishing year of The Daily O'Collegian began in September 1949, with a large number of seniors listed on the first semester staff. Moreover, first semester editor Herb Williams found prospects slim for reporters in the form of lower classmen. A few frosh would-be journalists did happen by, however. The permanent staff and members of two journalism classes soon were busy pounding typewriters and aiding in putting out an extensively read student newspaper.

This year was divided between Herb Williams and John Abrams as far as the editorship of the O'Collegian was concerned. Williams took over during the summer with Abrams assuming the editor's duties at the start of the second semester.

On the O'Collegian staff for the first semester were Luellyn Wright, associate editor; Marvin Murphy and Norma Rasmussen, assistant editors; George McBride and Bruce Johnson, news editors; John Abrams, sports editor; Kenneth Mitchell and Bill Baker, assistant sports editors, and Dorothy Shuler, society editor. Helen Arnett and Ann Drummond were assistant society editors.

Betty Bisango served capably as coed sports editor.

Mary Weiser did a superb job of directing the advertising staff, with Gil Schneider and Royal Thornton as assistants. C. Mark Wilson served as circulation manager and Patty Huss was proof-reader.

The O' Collegian rolled along in its 55th year of publication as the official student newspaper of Oklahoma A. & M. College with the Associated Press wire continuing to furnish state and national news.

The student publications board elected John Abrams to serve as editor of the O'Collegian for the spring semester when Herb Williams received his degree in January. Abrams, having worked up through the ranks first as an assistant sports editor and then sports editor, took over the reins and continued the promotion policy established last year.

Kenneth Mitchell took the duties of sports editor for the second semester, with Bill Baker being promoted to assistant sports editor. Dorothy Shuler continued as society editor.

The O'Collegian introduced a new cartoonist to its readers in the person of Rusty Wilson.

Reporters for the year were Jean Lomenick, Tom Williams, Earl Casner and Larry Osius.

AGGIEVATOR

BOB JACOBSON, Editor

The 1949-50 Oklahoma Aggievator continued the upward trend of the magazine and was hailed by the student body as the "best yet". It had the unusual distinction of being out on time for the first issue and for every issue thereafter, a feat heretofore unparalleled in Aggievator history. A new selling feature was a magazine increased eight pages worth over previous volumes and made possible by an ambitious advertising department.

The staff of this year's Aggievator is considered by the editor to be one of the best the magazine has ever had. Contrary to what may be the popular idea of humor magazine staff members, howling mad and jabberwacky, the Aggievator staffers were an organization of talented and intelligent creatures working hard to turn out the kind of humor and feature material the student-reader will appreciate.

Assistant Editors Jack Drummond, Bill Crane and Barbara Brown; circulation staffers Bill Hardwick, John Maddox and Bill Trower; advertising solicitors Chester Paul, Dick Maloy and Joe Williams; artists Elliott Todd, Rusty Wilson and Boyd Baker; layout designers Bal Gutierrez and Bill Morgan, and rewrite man Don James are all to be commended for a job well done.

Associate Editor Ed Callahan is the man responsible for redesigning the interior arrangement of the Aggievator into something interesting and pleasing. His constant flow of ideas contributed greatly to the new creative character of the magazine. The most notable and well-received results of Callahan's efforts were his photo features, photo cover, some of his Girl-of-the-Month photographs and the general layout of the magazine.

With the production of a larger Aggievator of finer quality as a goal, Editor-Cartoonist Bob Jackson planned and produced a magazine which held its own with some of the finest college humor magazines in the nation.

ED CALLAHAN, Associate Editor

Boasting only one member with journalistic experience and ambitions, the staff made up in originality and creativeness what it lacked in technical perfection. Under Jacobson's guidance, the Aggievator increased in size, circulation and income. Many of its jokes and cartoons were reproduced in other college magazines while several of its jokes, cartoons and Aggievator Girls-of-the-Month were reprinted in Varsity magazine.

Assistant Editors

Jack Drummond, Barbara Brown, Bill Crane and Boyd Baker act as assistant editors on the Aggievator staff. The quartet write stories, edit copy and furnish much of the photography for the nationally-known humor mag.

Staff Members

Bill Hardwick, circulation director: Russell Wilson, cartoonist, and circulation assistants John Maddox and Bill Trower put their heads together over a recent edition of the Aggievator.

Dick Maloy, advertising solicitor, closes a deal via telephone while Chester Paul, of the advertising staff; Don James, rewrite man; Bill Morgan, advertising, and Elliott Todd, cartoonist, try to make copy and advertisements fit the page layout.

OKLAHOMA STATE ENGINEER

This year marked the 15th year of continuous publication of the Oklahoma State Engineer, official publication of the Oklahoma Institute of Technology. Since its inception, the magazine has increased from 12 to 48 pages and from a circulation of less than 1,000 to one of 6,000 copies.

CLAYTON DOBSON. Editor

The purpose of the magazine is to advertise Oklahoma, the school and the engineer. All articles and features of the magazine are written by undergraduate students enrolled in engineering. service.

The Oklahoma State Engineer is a member of the Engineering College Magazines Associated which is composed of most of the better engineering colleges in the nation. This year, ten members of the staff attended the annual ECMA convention at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis. The trip was a great success for, besides having a good time as delegates are prone to do, they succeeded in getting Oklahoma A. and M. College named as the site of the next convention and were present when George B. Tims, Jr., faculty business advisor, was elected vice-chairman of the ECMA.

The magazine also received three awards for outstanding work over the past year.

SIGMA DELTA CHI

The Oklahoma A. & M. chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional and honorary journalism fraternity, completed its third year on the campus in the spring of 1949. Before receiving its national charter, the local chapter was known as the A. & M. Press Club.

The purpose of the organization is to advance the standards of journalism as a profession by creating a high ethical code. By starting within the colleges with student journalists, Sigma Delta Chi has done much to raise the standards of the press since its founding.

Sigma Delta Chi is one of the most active organizations on the campus. It co-sponsors the Varsity Revue, an all-campus musical production, and each year sponsors the Press princess ball. Peggy Stem won the title of 1949-50 Press princess at the ball held in September.

The A. & M. chapter also sends a delegate to its national convention. The A. & M. chapter annually makes one of the best national showings with three men from A. & M. usually attending.

Members are very active in student publications. Herb Williams and John Abrams, both SDX members, were first and second semester editors of The Daily O'Collegian. Marvin Murphy was assistant editor. Al Johndrow was editor of the 1950 Redskin, Barney K. Neal, Jr. was associated editor, and Don Tucker, sports editor.

George Church is faculty advisor.

THETA SIGMA PHI

In 1942, Alpha Chi chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary-professional organization for women in journalism, was established on the A. & M. campus.

To honor underclasswomen in journalism, the annual tea and reception was given early in the fall. This event is scheduled each year to acquaint new women with the journalism department and the fraternity.

The Varsity Revue, which is annually co-sponsored with Sigma Delta Chi, was under the chairmanship of Theta Sigma Phi this year.

An outstanding event on the campus is the annual Theta Sigma Phi Matrix Table dinner. The affair is held each spring to celebrate the founding of Theta Sig. Principal speaker for the 1949 banquet was internationally-famed Dorothy Thompson. Other prominent women in journalism who have appeared as Matrix Table speakers at A. and M. are Margaret Bourke-White and Melvina Stephenson.

Luellyn Wright represented the local chapter at the 40th annual national convention in Dallas, Texas, last summer.

The Theta Sigma Phi pin is a miniature gold matrix inscribed with the Greek letters and a torch symbolizing the search for truth.

Membership in Theta Sigma Phi requires a general grade point average of 2.5 and a journalism grade point average of 3.0.

Alumna advisor is Mrs. George F. Church. Miss Elsie Shoemaker is faculty advisor for the group.

FORMER STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

An intensified campaign to inform Oklahoma A. and M. College alumni on present and future plans for the college and a drive to obtain correct mailing addresses of all graduates has marked the year 1949-50 in the Former Students Association office. This campaign is gaining momentum and will continue to pick up speed.

The Former Students office has four chief functions. One is to keep an accurate mailing list of all A. & M. alumni; a second is to assist graduates and former students in obtaining jobs or to change to employment they desire; a third is to serve as a center of planning for all Aggie alumni activities in Oklahoma or elsewhere.

The fourth is to keep coming your way a readable, attractive pair of alumni publications—The Oklahoma A. & M. College News, a free circulation quarterly tabloid—and the well-illustrated monthly, The Oklahoma A. and M. College Magazine. The magazine comes for one year following graduation to all alumni whose addresses are reported, then it is on a $2 per year membership and subscription basis.

Your obligation to yourself and to this office is to keep in our hands at all times changes in your mailing address and facts about yourself which your friends might like to know. In this way we can help you and you can help us when the college particularly needs your talents and specialties, whatever they may be.

BOARD of PUBLICATIONS

During the early part of the 1949-50 fall semester, the Board of Student Publications held business meetings about four times each week for the first six weeks of school. During the remainder of the year, the group met on an average of three times a month in regular meetings, and for called meetings when necessary.

So you see, it's a time-demanding job for the four students and four faculty members who comprise the student publications board.

The publications board supervises the editorial and business staffs of A. & M.'s three major student publications—The Daily O'Collegian, the Redskin and the Oklahoma Aggievator. The board selects the editors and must approve all staff appointments.

Student members for 1949-50 were H. L. (Bo) Watson and John R. Ramsey, senior members, and Ed Brashear and Keith Smith, junior members

Faculty members on the publications board are Prof. C. E. Trout, head of the journalism department, who is chairman; Prof. R. B. Thompson, head of the poultry department; Dean C. H. Mc-Elroy, of the School of Veterinary Medicine, and Prof. Cecil B. Williams, of the English department.

Elmer L. Woodson, director of student publications, is secretary of the Board of Student Publications.

Each spring, two student members of junior classification are elected by the student body to replace the two graduating members of the publications board.

DIRECTOR of ATHLETICS

A. & M. is extremely proud of its athletic director, Henry P. Iba, and justly so. For under his wise and able leadership, the athletic program has flourished and grown into national recognition. A nationally-known figure in the sports world as a basketball coach, Iba has made the name "Aggies" everywhere synonymous with top quality sportsmanship and competition.

1950 rounds out the 16th year of Iba's tenure at A. & M. It is no mere accident then that the Aggies have dominated the Missouri Valley conference, produced bowl teams, been contenders for top national basketball honors, frequently turned out top-flight baseball squads and stars, and manufactured a wrestling team with the most awesome, unbroken string of victories in the history of collegiate wrestling. It is not hard to see, then, why every Aggie is proud of "Hank" Iba.

AGGII

1950 marked the completion of 11 seasons as head football coach at Oklahoma A. & M. for E. M. "Jim" Lookabaugh. Lookabaugh is the reason for many fine Aggie football squads that have given stature to the name of A. & M. in the gridiron wold.

Coach Lookabaugh is a graduate of Oklahoma A. & M., having starred in both football and basketball as a student in the middle 20's. He came to the position of head football coach in 1939 from Capitol Hill high school, Oklahoma City. Lookabaugh was responsible for the great teams of 1944 and 1945 that captured the Cotton and Sugar bowl championships, respectively.

COACHING STAFF

Cliff Speegle, assistant coach, came to A. & M. from our rival school at Norman. This is Speegle's third year with the Aggies.

Jack Baker, backfield coach, is one of the all-time Aggie greats under Lynn Waldorf. Baker came to us the same year as Lookabaugh, 1939.

Adam Esslinger, assistant coach, was an A. & M. gridder in 1922, '23 and '24. Esslinger finishes his third year. Toby Greene turns out powerful baseball squads consistently and is one of the best football scouts in the business. Toby also came to A. & M. in 1939. "Doc" Johnston is the Aggie trainer and a favorite with a long succession of A. & M. athletes. Art Griffith, wrestling and tennis coach, took over the helm of the wrestling here in 1941 and since that time, has surpassed former coach Ed Gallagher's record of 68 consecutive wins in dual matches. His tennis team swept the Missouri Valley championship in easy style. Gene Smelser is assistant basketball coach and freshman coach. Until this year, the frosh, under Smelser's guidance, had not tasted defeat in 52 contests. Smelser is one of A. & M.'s basketball greats before the war. Ralph Higgins, track and field coach, has been with the Aggies for 17 years. Higgins consistently produces one of the outstanding track teams in the country. Last season his squad took the Missouri Valley cinder crown and is expected to repeat this year. Ralph is another former A. & M. athlete who returned to coach at the alma mater. He played football, basketball, and participated in track as a student here. Labron Harris, golf coach, turned out a Missouri Valley winning team for the second year in a row. Gilbert Steinke served as assistant football and freshman coach. Steinke, in his first year at A. & M., had the important task of molding material for the varsity.

HONORS

Four senior A. & M. football players were honored at halftime ceremonies during the Aggie-St. Louis basketball game on the merits of their distinctive gridiron play during the season. These pigskin specialists received medals for their selection to the All-Missouri Valley team.

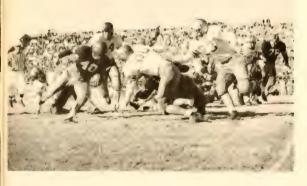

Receiving awards were Alex Loyd, Clayton Davis, Jack Hartman and Charles Shaw, who saw their last college grid action at the close of the 1949 campaign.

Hartman made his mark as an expert passer and a shrewd field general. Charlie Shaw, a repeat from the 1948 Missouri Valley team, retained his tackle position. An end position was taken by Alex Loyd, a 6-4 star. Van Pool and DeRoin were on the second team. Clay Davis played brilliantly in center position for the Aggies.

A. & M. 33, TCU 33

The Cowpokes' smooth-functioning drive and high spirit sparked the Aggie-TCU game in one of the most thrillpacked contests a football fan would ever want to witness. The Aggie line moulded itself into an impenetrable wall on several occasions when the Frogs engineered the ball down deep into Aggie territory and held the passing, pawing TCU team to a near standstill. Darrell Meisenheimer called defensive plays like he was listening in on the TCU huddle. Hartman completed nine out of 16 passes. TCU intercepted none of Hod's passes, but the Pokes gathered in five of Berry's flings—one going to a touchdown as Ed Roof raced 50 yards for a tally.

A. & M. 48. DENVER 2

With second and third-stringers playing practically all of the second half and 38 men taking part in the festivities, the Aggies waltzed past the Denver Pioneers—a team that was outclassed all the way. Its aerial arm still in perfect timing, the Aggie team scored four times on passes and three times on the ground against the scrappy Pioneers. Hartman passed for one touchdown and Ben Aldridge went off tackle for 15 yards in another touchdown drive as the Pokes got off to a flying start. The seven goals were scored by E. Roof, Van Pool, Loyd, Johnson, Corbett and two by Ken Roof. Hartman completed three touchdown passes and made six conversions.

A. & M. 7, MISSOURI 21

The Missouri Tigers crowded three touchdowns into less than three minutes of concentrated action to defeat the sturdy Aggies at Columbia, Mo. Coach Jim Lookabaugh's Cowboys led for most of the first half after scoring in the opening quarter, but the Tigers tied the count to 7-7 just before the half-time and then swept through and over the Aggies for two third-period touchdowns that gave them the decision. It was lack of a finishing punch that thwarted the Aggie team. They reached the Mizzou 12-yard line late in the third period only to lose the ball on a pass interception. Early in the fourth, a fumble nipped their bid for a touchdown and later they again lost the ball on the Tiger nine.

A. & M. 28, DRAKE 0

The unerring arm of Jack Hartman showed the way to a Poke victory as Oklahoma A. & M. launched its Missouri Valley defense in a home opener which found Drake thoroughly subdued by the lopsided score of 28-0. The Cowboys struck early for their easy triumph, sinking the Bulldogs with a three-touchdown licking in the second quarter after scoring once in the opening period. After that, the Orange and Black was content to let the sophomores and other subs cavort for the most part. The lowans were practically helpless when their Negro flash, John Bright, was checked both on the ground and in the air. Ed and Ken Roof, Don Van Pool and Arlen McNeil made the four tallies.

A. & M. 14, KANSAS 55

A supercharged Kansas team, which took advantage of practically every Aggie error, astonished a huge homecoming crowd by wrecking the Pokes, 55–14. Eight different men, including a tackle and a guard, scored the Jayhawkers' touchdowns as the highly-favored Cowboys went down in disappointment. The surging Kansas II, showing an amazing ability to hit their own long passes—while breaking up Jack Hartman's tosses—took command at the start with three touchdowns before the Pokes could score. Converting to a ground attack in the second half, they continued to out-gain the Aggies.

A. & M. 7, DETROIT 13

Oklahoma A. & M.'s football army, its "general" sidelined by injury, played its heart out, but lost a Missouri Valley conference decision to inspired Detroit. The Titans won with a second-half touchdown, repulsing the Aggies on the I-yard line to avert the winning touchdown. Despite the loss of Hartman's passing services, the Pokes scored first when Dick Von Drehle fell on a fumbled ball behind the goal line and Hartman place-kicked his 17th extra point in 20 attempts for a 7–0 lead. Detroit caught fire in the second period and moved from their own 20-yard line to the Aggie goal in six plays.

A. & M. 13, TULSA 13

The Aggies, who had lost all hope of gaining a share of the Missouri valley title crown, came out of the rough-andtumble tilt with Tulsa in excellent shape. Alex Loyd, who was the nation's best pass receiver prior to the Aggie-Hurricane game, had a good day against the Tulsans as he caught six aerials for 113 yards. Johnny Grabko, the Aggies' heralded sophomore, kicked seven times in the game for an average of 40 yards per punt, which is good in any league. Grabko also established himself as a runner. In the following summary of statistics, A. & M. precedes the Tulsa numerals: first downs, 16–15; yards rushing, 120–145, and yards passing, 168-275.

A. & M. 26, KANSAS STATE 14

Martin Riley, third-string quarterback all season, became the Aggies' "No. I boy" at Manhattan when he led A. & M. to a grid triumph over the Wildcats on a muddy field that "grounded" Hartman. Riley proved his salt by passing excellently and running smartly to give the Cowpokes a badly-needed triumph. He pitched a 24-yard scoring aerial to back Arlen McNeil in the first period for the opening tally. With the Cowboys trailing, 14-7, in the final period, he counted twice on short runs. He set up one with a 29-yard pass that sophomore Wayne Johnson caught on the three and ran to a goal. The last touchdown Riley sparked was a quarterback sneak from the one-yard line as the final gun sounded.

A. & M. 47, WICHITA 20

The Poke team outscored Wichita on Lewis field in a brawling, flaming tempered, Missouri Valley football game. An open-mouthed crowd viewed the grid spectacle which featured holding and general misconduct. The game lasted more than three hours and saw three players ejected and 23 penalties totaling 215 yards assessed. At one time, officials called five straight penalties. Ten players were carried from the battle scene with a variety of injuries. The Kansans were underdogs from the starting gun and were completely swept under in the wave of Aggie passing and rushing that dominated play.

A. & M. 0. OKLAHOMA 41

It was a long afternoon at Owen field when the Sugar bowl-bound Sooners blasted the Aggies into submission for the fourth straight year in the 44th meeting between the two rivals. A crowd of some 50,000 watched the Aggies fight futilely against the nation's number two team. The Pokes tried several different defenses but the Sooners pushed ahead with a potent ground and air attack. Sophomore Johnny Grabko turned in an excellent punting record for the game and Alex Loyd snagged several passes intended for Sooner hands. Otherwise, it was a "Big Red" afternoon.

A. & M. NEW COACHES

On Nov. 2, Lookabaugh resigned as coach before the end of the football season. Although the resignation did not take effect until the completion of the schedule, the head coach position was opened for a new man. On Nov. 30, the athletic council announced that Jennings Bryan

Whitworth had been signed for the job.

Whitworth is no novice to the game of football. He played under Wallace Wade and Frank Thomas at Alabama and was in the Rose bowl game of 1931 as a guard and fieldgoal kicker. After his graduation in 1932, Whitworth remained as a coaching assistant. He moved to LSU in 1935 and stayed until 1938 when he accepted the position of line coach at Georgia in 1939. Whitworth filled this position until his appointment at A. & M.

While coaching under the famous Wally Butts at Georgia, Whitworth helped in the shaping of many great teams including six bowl contestants for the Bulldogs.

The new coach was given a free hand in choosing his assistants and Whitworth quickly supplemented his staff with talented men. Howard Johnson, Georgia, 1948, was named line coach. Johnson played guard and tackle for the Bulldogs on Sugar and Orange bowl teams. Joe Brown was called to serve as backfield coach. Brown played his college ball at Georgia Tech. George (Buck) Bradberry, Georgia, '48, was chosen freshman coach. Assistant coaches Jack Baker and Toby Greene were retained from Lookabaugh's staff.

COACH HENRY P. IBA

COACH HENRY P. IBA

Henry P. Iba completed his 23rd year of coaching basketball this year. During this period, Iba's teams have won 507 games and lost 122. In his 16 years at A. & M., his teams have won 344 and lost 95 games. Also within this period, the Aggies have won or shared the Missouri Valley championship 11 times and won or shared the NCAA title four times.

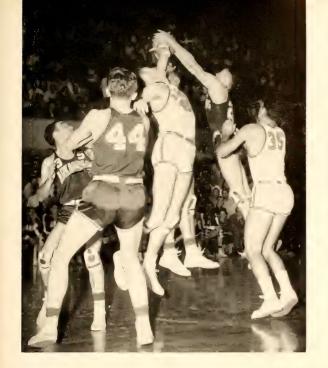

Iba, in his years of coaching, has become well-known in sports, especially in basketball circles. In 1949, he was named coach of the year by New York basketball writers. In 1947, the Basketball Coaches association of America voted Iba "best in the nation"

It is certain that as long as the "Iron Duke" is guiding the basketball fortunes of the Aggies, A. & M. will be the team to beat in the conference, in the district and in the nation.

THE BASKETBALL SEASON

M: Arthur ties tup.

John Miller, center

The 1950 edition of Oklahoma Aggie cagemen was considerably different from the Henry Iba-coached teams of the past. The Pokes partly abandoned their cautious type of ball and flavored their game with a touch of fire-brand playing. They still retained perfect ball control but accelerated their play. This tactical changeover came naturally with Norman Pilgrim, Keith Smith, Don Haskins, Don Johnson and Gale McArthur handling the ball. This new-found hustle more than made up for a lack of height.

The nucleus of this ball club was built around 6-6 Jack Shelton, who finished his last season with a season scoring total of 280 points to lead all other Aggies in that division. Closely following Shelton was small but flashy Norman Pilgrim with 234 points and Gale Mc-Arthur, one of Hank's starting guards, with 198. These three top scorers, together with Don Johnson and Bob Seymour, played in all games.

The Pokes didn't pick on any weak sisters for their first three opponents but they walloped the Arkansas invaders 43–41, clamped a lasso on Loyola of Chicago, 48–40, and outscored a good-natured Texas A. & M. team, 55–34.

The annual eastern trip challenged the Aggies. When the Cowboys dropped nine points behind St. Joseph's midway in the first half, Don Johnson took a firm hold of the Aggie reins and never turned loose until the Aggies had downed the Philadelphia team, 57–46.

With Jack Shelton and Gale McArthur fouling out early in the second half, the Long Island Blackbirds used their towering height to a great advantage to hand the favored Aggies their first defeat, a 38–31 loss.

The second game with Arkansas resulted in a 44–36 win for the Aggie hardwood team.

Although the Aggies finished third in the Oklahoma City all-college playoffs, several individual honors were snagged by team members. Jack Shelton grabbed scoring honors with 42 points on 12 field goals and 18 of 24 free throws. "Big Jack" was also named for the all-star team. Bob Seymour was placed on the second team while Pilgrim was nominated the best free throw artist as he dropped 13 of 14 charity tosses.

The Aggie iinx continued with a 41-40 loss to De-Paul university, displaying a fast moving, rolling offense and strong defense. With that, DePaul became the first basketball team in the nation to defeat the Aggies three times on their home court. Norman Pilgrim and Jack Shelton led the Ag scoring with 12 markers each.

The opening defense of the 1950 Missouri Valley conference title was dealt a disheartening blow by Wichita as they handed the crestfallen Aggies their second defeat by one point, 38-37. A. & M. had several opportunities to knot the score but couldn't tally with the pressure on.

The losing streak broke when the "reclaimed" Cowboys returned to home grounds and climbed on the victory trail by pounding visiting Drake, 56-27. Then the Iba quintet blasted the Sooners back to Norman as they rung up a rough 45-37 win over their highly esteemed rivals. The victory enabled the Ags to maintain their home court supremacy over the Sooners, who have beaten the Iba men but once in Gallagher hall.

The momentum of the Aggie machine collapsed Tulsa, 47-33. This win slipped the team into a tie for second place in the Missouri Valley conference. Big Jack Shelton's rebounding, the scoring of McArthur and a tight Aggie defense proved to be the dominant factors in the victory.

Embarking on a tour around the fringe of the country's top basketball teams, Iba's ball club left Stillwater between semesters and was confronted first with DePaul. With little Norm Pilgrim scoring almost at will, the Oklahoma Aggies evened the score with the Blue Demons by defeating them, 53–45.

A hustling Loyola university team, which had had trouble hovering near the .500 mark most of the season, handed the Aggies a 41–31 setback and one of the worst losses of the campaign. The Aggies, completely cold, never gained the lead and only once looked like they might take over.

Relegating A. & M. to a "footnote" position in the Missouri Valley conference race, St. Louis crinkled the Pokes' title hopes with a 41–29 defeat. The well-tutored and inspired Bills made up for the four straight defeats the Aggies had handed them in the past two seasons.

Hank Iba's group regained its balance to pull an action-packed 51–49 victory from an ambitious Drake basketball squad. The Ag cagers saw a seven-point lead melt to a three-point deficit at one time, but its free throw corps answered the call with 25 points during the night to greatly aid in the win.

A short but hard-working Pittsburgh basketball team made its first appearance in Gallagher hall but didn't find the welcome mat extended as far as basketball was concerned. The visitors were turned back 43–34 by a hard-pressed A. & M. five. Pilgrim copped scoring honors.

Again the Ags were licked and title hopes deflated by a Detroit win of 40–39. Although more evenly matched than the football squads, the Pokes couldn't overcome the northerners' athletic prowess. The knife in the Aggies' side was driven deeper when the Bradley Braves, second-rung team in national cage polls at that time, scalped the team, 59–46.

Shelton was brilliant as the Ags, bouncing back after their disastrous northern swing, shellacked Detroit university. For the Pokes it meant revenge for the earlier beating by the Titans and a jump to within a half game of third place in Valley standings. Limiting the Titan five to eight field goals, the Aggies looked more like the defensive teams of old.

Hitting a grand-slam total of 21 of 24 free throw attempts, the Cowboys went on to beat the Wichita Wheatshockers, 49–40. That game brought the Aggies' standing to 15 wins against eight defeats and took them over the .500 mark in conference play.

The Iba men, still on a winning rampage, "out defensed" the Tulsa Hurricanes, 34–27, in a Missouri Valley conference game. For the Pokes this game served as a real test preliminary to the following tussle with the league-leading Bradley Braves. But the Iba squad flunked the Brave contest as the nation's No. I team nudged them 42–35 to clinch the Missouri Valley title. The game was not as clean a victory as the score indicates. The Aggies played on even terms with the powerful Bradley crew and at various points in the game, the Pokes led the Braves by substantial margins.

Bolstering spirits in the seasonal home stretch, the smart-playing Pokes jabbed the Sooners, 48–37, for the second time. The wild clash of old rivals resulted in 61 fouls being called during the contest. Pilgrim was high scorer with 17 points.

To wind up the cage season, the Aggie team nosed out the St. Louis Billikens, 37–35, before 9,000 screaming fans in Gallagher hall. This avenged an earlier loss and finished a year, for a change, when the wind-up tangle on the Cowboy slate meant nothing except another tussle between two of the nation's better-known teams.

WRESTLING

For the 10th consecutive year, Oklahoma A. & M., under the able tutelage of mat Coach Art Griffith, came up with an undefeated wrestling squad. The 1950 team record shows that the Aggies have won seven dual meets, lost none and tied none. This brings the Poke grapplers to the top of a new record, with 75 straight dual-meet victories in a row.

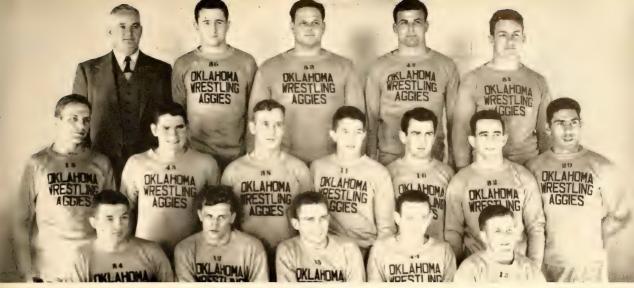

In compiling all-time records for the Aggies, the men from A. & M. have won 179 meets, lost five and tied four since 1916 when the sport was first introduced in Stillwater. This is a record unequaled anywhere in the annals of amateur wrestling.

Not only outstanding as a team this year, but also individually, the Aggies came out on the top of 51 individual matches while dropping only two, both decisions. To round out their total 55 matches for this season, the Aggies fought out two of their matches to a draw. Of the 51 wins, 22 were falls and 29 decisions.

Coach Griffith started his 1950 season with 20 men on his roster. Among them were six returnees from his 1949 NCAA championship team, and one NCAA champion, Charles Hetrick.

In the first meet of the year, the Pokes took the Sooners to the tune of 30-0 in the second annual homecoming for Aggie wrestlers. The Colorado Aggies came to Stillwater for the Ags' second match and went home suffering a 29-2 defeat at the hands of Griffith's boys. On Feb. 8, the Pokes were in Atlanta, Ga., meeting the matmen of Jack Griffith, son of our head coach. Griffith's Georgia Tech grapplers bowed to Griffith's Aggies to the tune of 36-0. Just for good measure, the Aggies stopped at Chattanooga and rounded out a perfect trip with a 34-0 win. Kansas State was the first team to tangle with the Cowboys after their return to Gallagher hall and they were given a hot reception with a 32-0 drubbing. Next foe was a fairly strong Nebraska squad but it was no match for the ever-ready Aggies and they bowed, 21-3. The Sooners needed another convincing, so the Orange and Black clad boys convinced them again, this time 21-7, which made the 14th loss in a row to the Ags by the Sooners and an all time record of 36 A. & M. wins, one loss and two ties.

With the close of the season, most athletic teams pack up for a good long rest, but not so with Art Griffith's charges. On the contrary, now the work began in earnest in preparation for their real test of the year, the annual NCAA meet. Cedar Falls, lowa, was the scene of the collegiate gathering this year on March 24 and 25. Host to the hundreds of contestants was the lowa State Teachers college, runners-up to the Aggies for NCAA honors last year.

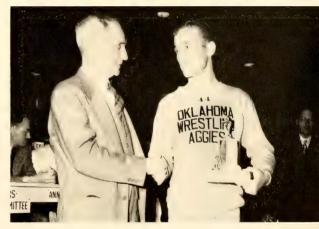

Row I: Groom, Kilpatrick, Layman, Peninger, Jernigan.

Potent Iowa State Teachers College swept the Aggies out of first place in the National Collegiate Athletic Association championships for the first time since 1947 in the matches held at Cedar Falls, Iowa, by amassing 30 points. This was the third time in the 19-year history of the NCAA meet that the Aggies did not come out on top. The Aggies were only able to muster nine points in taking fifth place behind Iowa State, Purdue, Cornell and Syracuse.

The Aggies placed three men in the semi-finals: Dick Hutton, heavyweight; Charles Hetrick, 128, and Byron Todd, 155. Hutton went on to take the heavyweight title while Todd won the 155 consolation final. Hetrick failed to place. Hutton's win makes him three-time titleholder of the NCAA heavyweight class, having won in 1947-'48-'50.

TRACK

The Aggie runners hammered out an astounding record in 1949. Coach Higgins produced what was probably the best track team ever to represent the school and drove it to smashing victories over all comers in the Missouri Valley conference.

Glittering from the very start of the season, the Poke cinder squad cut an undefeated swath to the Missouri Valley title, Kansas relay title and Texas relay title. Second place honors were carried off by A. & M. thinclads in the highly competitive Drake relays. The season was topped off by Aggie participation in two west-coast invitational meets in which they were defeated only by Southern California.

The victorious Oklahoma A. & M. track team produced the following record:

Aggies	76	1-2	McMurray	32 1-2
Aggies	101		Colorado College	57
Aggies	55	1-3	Colorado U	47 2-3
Aggies	103		Wichita	28
Aggies	84	1-2	Oklahoma	46 1-2
Aggies	88		Arkansas	43
		Won	six lost none)

The cross-country record is as follows:

(Low score wins)

Aggies		28	Texas A. & M.	27
Aggies		24	Oklahoma	31
Aggies		17	Tavas State	40

Outstanding mainstays for the Cowboy racers were J. R. Teakell, senior distance man and captain of the squad; Ray Prohaska, mile and two-mile relay; Dick Stolpe, blond speeder in 440 and 880-yard relays; Harold Tarrant, half-miler and a middle distance man; Benny Aldridge, dash man, and Paul Efaw, two-miler.

The A. & M. track squad showed surprising strength in its first dual meet with McMurray college. The Higgins' crew won or tied for first place in all but two events—discus and 440 relay.

For the second year in a row, the Oklahoma Aggie team grabbed third place in the Border Olympics, finishing behind Texas and Texas A. & M. with 31 points.

Bad luck rode with the Aggies in the following Chicago relays when a distance man broke a bone in his foot, forcing Higgins to withdraw his weakened team from the one-mile event. The Aggies settled for third place in the meet.

Higgins' runners out-distanced four university division entrants to score five records and win the Aggie relay previews meet. Poke hustlers won five of the six university relay events and amassed a total of 92 points.

Row I: Bay, Gilchrest, Beyer, Tarrant, Teakell (Capt.), Hetrick, Efaw.

Proving beyond a shadow of a doubt that Aggieland is the site of the greatest all-around athletic program, the Cowpokes dethroned the perennial champion, University of Texas, and took the Texas relay crown before 10,000 thrilled spectators.

Ag cindermen wrapped up two dual meets as they sped past Colorado Springs and rallied in the last two events to eke past the University of Colorado.

In the KU relays, Higgins fielded a crack team which blistered the Sooners and relegated them to third place, while the Aggies tied MU with 20 points.

Prohaska won distinction in the Drake medley by placing second in the two-mile event and helped hand the squad second place in the overall medley. The Cowboys were nosed out by Michigan State by one point.

Tarrant flew to a half-mile record to help defeat Oklahoma university for the fourth straight year as he ripped off the 880-yard run in 1.56.1, eight-tenths of a second faster than the previous record.

Continuing to hack their swath to Missouri Valley and regional recognition, the trackmen won their sixth dual meet by easily outspeeding the Razorbacks. Cowboy speedsters cracked five records.

To conclude the season the cindermen copped their ninth Missouri Valley title, sweeping by the six other entries for the '49 championship.

BASEBALL

Triumphant in 20 out of 23 games in its regular season, the Aggie baseball team whacked its way to the regional NCAA playoffs in which their hopes for a berth in the NCAA finals were squashed by two successive Texas Longhorn victories. The first of the games with Texas resulted in a 3–2 defeat as Bill Hutchison lost his first college game since 1946. The second Texas win, 7–3, clinched the regional title for the Longhorn nine.

The Cowpokes won the Missouri Valley title with eight straight wins and built the finest seasonal baseball record in A. & M.'s long sports history.

Frankie Kempa, A. & M.'s smooth little second-sacker, took the individual batting honors for the regular season. Final averages gave Kempa .402 with 35 hits in 87 turns. Second was the veteran centerfielder, Nim Free, hitting 40 times in 106 trips for a .377 average.

Bob Bartlett .366, John Tabor .361, Charles Franks .338, Bo Watson .287, Frank Kellert .279, Morris Neighbors .274, Howard Coleman .265, and Mack Bulger .250 were the other regulars.

For the second straight year Bill Hutchison was an undefeated pitcher. He won six. Most earned run average belonged to B. L. (Turk) Tomlinson, who allowed 1.78 runs per game. Tomlinson won five, lost two. Jim Ward led in strikeouts, fanning 27.

Departmental leaders included Kempa, with 34 runs and five sacrifice hits, leading those departments; Free with 40 hits, Watson with 10 two-baggers, Free and Bulger with three triples, Tabor with five homeruns and 52 total bases.

Tabor walked 23 times and fanned 15 times, leading also in those departments. Coleman was hit three times by pitcher and Kellert paced runs batted in with 31.

As a complete team the Aggies batted .298 for the season.

Men that played their last college baseball for the Aggies in the 1949 season were Howard (Red) Coleman, catcher; Tom Jaquet, pitcher and Poke basketball star; B. L. (Turk) Tomlinson, a mainstay on the pitching staff for the past four years; Bill (Red) Hutchison, a three-year letterman on the mound staff; Franklin Kellert, an aggressive firstbaseman who led the Aggies in homeruns in the '48 season; Bo Watson, a fine shortstop who played for the Boomers in his off season, and Nim Free, the fine centerfielder who played three seasons.

Two of Coach Toby Green's reserves who helped promote Aggie success were Charley Franks, pinch-hitting utility infielder, and Stanley Gwinn, left field letterman.

Oklahoma A. & M.'s par-busting golf team won its second conference title in a row with an 80-stroke victory for 54 holes over the nearest opponents. Bo Wininger fired a 201, shooting a five under par the final 18 holes, to wrest the lead away from teammate Loddie Kempa who had led the field of 28 golfers for the first 36 holes. This win was Wininger's third consecutive Missouri Valley title.

Wininger, state amateur king, was trailing Loddie Kempa by a single stroke at the end of the first 36 of 54 holes in the tournament. The short, stocky Guthrie lad, playing in a driving rain, rallied to edge Kempa, 201–203. Kempa, national left-handed champion, wound up second in the meet.

Wininger, a senior, along with Kempa, Dick Turner and Dick Miller, posted a 54 total of 833 for a three under par.

Wichita, Drake, Detroit and Tulsa tied for second place with 913, while Bradley posted a 957 for sixth. St. Louis was seventh.

TENNIS

Climaxing the 1949 tennis season, the Aggies claimed the Missouri Valley tennis title for the second successive year. The Poke netmen, starring Paul Hurley and Bud McCune, vanquished all opposing teams except the strong Sooner team which bested Coach Griffith's courtmen the last two games of the season.

Paul Hurley, Aggie sophomore, upset the conference champion, Aggie Bud McCune, in the singles finals and joined with McCune in winning the doubles title to completely sweep the Valley tennis tournament.

Organized in 1909, the varsity "O" club is the oldest student organization on the campus of Oklahoma A. & M. College and occupies a high position among student organizations.

The purpose of the lettermen's club is to render service to varsity athletics and athletes in all possible ways and to promote fellowship, sportsmanship and scholarship among varsity athletes. Composed of winners of the college letter, membership requires that before a man can become a member of the organization, he must be properly initiated and pledge to remain active in the club.

Awards are presented for the following sports: football, basketball, wrestling, tennis, golf and baseball. Initiations are held at the end of each semester.

The era of building at A. & M. is continuing and, from the athletic point of view, is proving very successful. The "O" club has one of the finest clubrooms on the campus in the east wing of Gallagher hall. It is of paneled wood and contains comfortable furniture, drapes and radio. All trophies and relics of past years of sports glory are exhibited in glass-enclosed showcases that surround the room.

Meetings are called every two weeks for the purpose of solving problems confronting the organization and discussing any new business deemed necessary. Wrestling Coach Art Griffith is faculty advisor for the "O" club.

One of the main events of the year is the annual "O" club queen race held prior to the homecoming football game. The queen and two attendants are selected by a vote of the members from delegates representing each women's hall and sorority. The coronation of the 1949-50 "O" club queen, Miss Doris Bassett, Murray hall, was held during the halftime period of the homecoming game with Kansas university, with Gib Lipe, of the club, performing the honors. Attendants were Miss Marty White and Miss Claudine Kennedy. They were escorted by Jean Fitter and Gale McArthur.

A dance was sponsored by the club following the homecoming game. Music this year was by the Varsitonians, college dance band.

The "O" club started a new and worthwhile project during the past year—that of bringing groups of orphan children to each of the home football games. The club plans to enlarge the coverage to include basketball and baseball games for the visiting youngsters.

The handsome "O" blanket was presented to 18 graduating senior members at the annual picnic for members and their dates. The blanket is of black heavy wool, trimmed in orange. A large "O" is placed in the center, with years of participation and sports in which letters were won embroidered in the corners. Also, any member who received outstanding awards in his sport will have this recognition listed below the letter.

The club includes many men who are outstanding in campus organizations as well as athletics. A few of these are Zed Grissom, president of the Student association; Norman Pilgrim, president of the junior class; Bert Gray, president of the senior class, and Dick Von Drehle, 1949 Prince Charming.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Claiming one of the largest memberships among campus coeds is the Women's Athletic association, this year functioning under the largest sports program ever undertaken for women on the A. & M. campus.

Founded on the A. & M. campus in 1920, the WAA strives to promote good health, cooperation, sportsmanship and play. It also succeeds in making women's groups on the campus better known to each other through a series of sports tournaments running throughout the year.

A combination of individual and team sports contest was held throughout the year for all women students. The highlight of the year is the award given to the sorority and dormitory floor with the highest number of points accumulated through participation in all the activities of the year.

Honorary varsities are chosen in team sports and individual sports awards are also given. An "O" award may be won by participating on three winning teams, by individual wins or by being chosen for three varsity teams. A combination of any of these three also merits the cherished award. To remain active, a member must participate in at least one activity per semester.

Last year's "O" awards were given to Mary Ellen Kurland, Jo Oliver, Freda Everett, Juanita Hull, Pat Flikkema, Lois Woodson, Ruthie Andrews, Inez Spaeth, Norma Nall, Francis Brink, Barbara Casad, Monette Mincher, Zeola Overfelt, Jean Collyer, Mary Hostler, Mary Maude Moore, Phyllis Murphy, Betty Odom, Mary Lou Hamilton and Jane Caldwell Sims.

The outstanding senior award was presented to Juanita Hull.

Activities held during the year included a sport jamboree for all women on the campus, especially in recognition of new freshman women students. A homecoming coffee for alumni, initiation in January, a square dance in February, the honor awards banquet, another initiation in May, and the annual weekend camping trip at Yost lake just before finals in May were other features of the WAA's activities over the two school semesters.

PAT FLIKKEMA, President

WAA is the organization that tests each participant's attitude, tactfulness and spirit of cooperation. Through its programs and tournaments, its goal is a stronger and deeper understanding among women at A. & M. by means of fair play, good exercise and clean entertainment.

The organization is open to any college woman with an interest in one or all sports or to anyone who enjoys mixing with people. WAA furnishes opportunities for fun, fame, frolic and friends.

Miss Valerie Colvin, professor in the health and physical education department, is the faculty sponsor of the organization.

INTRAMURAL

The highly organized program of intramural athletics constitutes an important segment in the college career of most Aggie men students whose wholehearted participation encourages further expansion of activities and facilities.

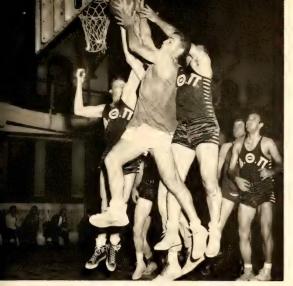

Intramural competition at Oklahoma A. & M. is not primarily for the athlete of varsity caliber -it is designed to meet the needs of every student, regardless of skill or ability, for essential physical and recreational activities.

Approximately 40 percent of the men students participated in intramural sports. The program supplied many more with an outlet for spectator interest throughout the year.

Approximately 3,000 men participated in the 17 sports that included basketball, touch football, softball, volleyball, tennis, golf, track, wrestling, table tennis, swimming, bowling, handball, aerial darts, badminton and horseshoes,

A total of 105 different cage aggregations vied for the all-college crown, with 1,235 men trying their hand at the court game. The Chicks overwhelmed contestants in the independent division and then ringed the all-college championship with a victory over SAE, interfraternity champs. Sigma Chi placed second in the interfraternity contest.

The Chicks also took the all-college title in touch football in which 68 teams and 881 men participated. Beta Theta Pi and SAE emerged from interfraternity play with first and second place, respectively.

All-college fall tennis singles tournaments were dominated by Fred Knudsen, winner, and Jim Ritchie, runnerup, who topped 30 other entries. First and second place winners in the doubles were Joe Adams, Jack McMahan, T. Y. Fang and Julio Laredo, respectively.

Twenty linksmen took part in fall golf games from which Marvin Moore and William Lane won and placed, respectively.

40-yard free style, Hiram Camp; 60-yard backstroke, R. L. Brown; 60-yard breaststroke, Dale Gulley; 100-yard freestyle, Ed Hoermann; 220yard freestyle, Ed Hoermann, and diving, Dick Tourtellotte.

The 1949 intramural season saw the largest individual turnout in softball with a total of 1,239 players. The Gonks took the all-college crown, and SAE was on top of the interfraternity league, with the Betas taking second.

Entrants numbering 843 showed a surprising interest in volleyball, an activity in which Kappa Alpha captured the all-college title. Independent winner was the Steers and interfraternity runner-up was Sigma Phi Epsilon.

The interfraternity track winner and runner-up were Sigma Phi Epsilon and Beta Theta Pi. The following were all-college champs: 60-yard dash, Bob Harrison; 60-yard high hurdles, Jack Compton; 100-yard dash, Bill R. Long; 880-yard dash, Les Kilpatrick; 220-yard dash, Bill Goodman; 440-yard dash, Gene Washington; 120-yard low hurdles, Gene Washington; shot put, Jack Compton; javelin, Matt Lamer; discus, Jack Scales; pole vault, Ben Beames; broad jump, George Bell, and high jump, Jim Seabach.

SAE and Sigma Nu took first and second place honors, respectively, in wrestling. All-college champs; 121, Don Smith; 128, Bob Barclay; 136, Dare McGillard; 145, Bernie Chmeilewski; 155, Joe Green; 165, Don Whitlock; 175, Paul Seeley, and HW, Jim Spavital.

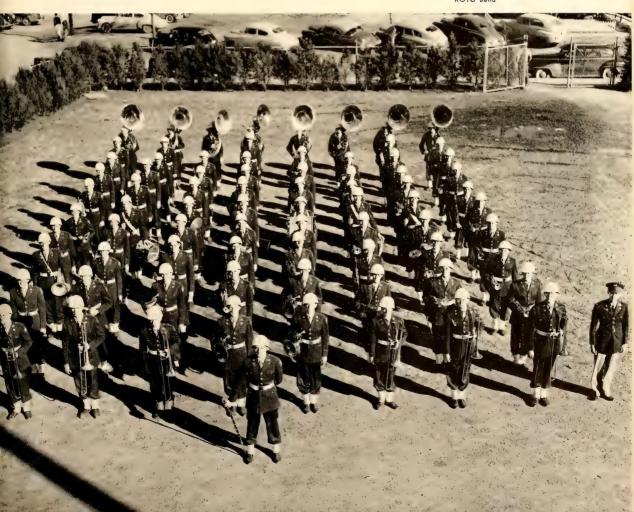

The Meatheads, independent, were all-college bowling champs.

The top four in the final interfraternity standings for 1949 were Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Beta Theta Pi and Sigma Nu, ranked in order.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT HEAD

Colonel Pete T. Heffner, head of the Oklahoma A. & M. College military department, is senior officer of the department with 32 years of service in the United States army. He became head of the ROTC unit in 1945, after serving as commanding officer of the 342nd infantry regiment of the 82nd division during the second World war in both the European and Pacific theaters.

Colonel Heffner was commissioned as a second Lieutenant in November of 1917, and served his first tour of duty with the 35th infantry along the Mexican border when Pancho Villa led the unsuccessful Mexican uprising.

After the first World war, he served in the Hawaiian theater, and also headed the Arkansas district of the Civilian Conservation Corps in 1941 and 1942.

During the second World war, Colonel Heffner was for a time acting chief of staff of the 7th armored division in Europe, and also led the combat armored command of the 7th division in a bridge head operation below Metz, Germany.

He has attended many schools during his career. He attended the basic infantry school in 1920 and the tank school in 1940, both of which are located at Fort Benning, Georgia. He is a graduate of the Command and General Staff school, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and the Army War college, Washington, D. C. He also attended, as one of a select class, the special disarmament school held in London, England, in 1944.

Colonel Heffner also attended Colorado college and was at one time backfield coach at Clemson college.

For his outstanding service to his country, Colonel Heffner has been awarded the silver star, the purple heart, the legion of merit, the bronze star, the French croix de guerre, combat infantry badge, and the Pacific and European theater ribbons.

COLONEL PETE T. HEFFNER, JR., Commandant of the Oklahoma A. & M. College ROTC

LIEUT, COLONEL RALPH A. BRANN

COMMANDING OFFICER, ARMY GROUND FORCES

Lieutenant Colonel Walter A. Faiks, commanding officer of the army ground forces at Oklahoma A. & M. College and assistant professor of military science and tactics in charge of engineers, has been stationed at Oklahoma A. & M. College for two years, arriving on the campus the summer of 1948.

He is a graduate of West Point, United States Military academy, class of 1936. After he was graduated from the academy with a regular army commission as a second lieutenant and a bachelor of science degree, he took his first tour of duty in what was then the aircorps. After spending one year in the aircorps, he returned to the army and the corps of engineers.

He secured a master's degree in civil engineering in 1939 at the University of California while on active duty in the army. He took a very strong interest in activating two different engineer aviation maintenance battalions before the second World war broke out, and commanded one of these battalions in Alaska during the early part of the war.

He also served in the Pacific theater of operations in New Guinea and the Philippines.

PROFESSOR OF AIR SCIENCE AND TACTICS

Lieutenant Colonel Ralph A. Brann, professor of air science and tactics at Oklahoma A. & M. College, has been at the college one year. He arrived to take over the airforce unit of the military department when the airforce was separated from the ground forces.

He was commissioned and given his wings at Kelly Airforce base in 1939. After serving for one year, he went on inactive duty to become a pilot for Pan-American airways, flying the Africa-India route from Casablanca to Calcutta.

After flying for Pan-American for one year, he returned to the airforce and became chief of maintenance, Tinker Airforce base, Oklahoma City. After serving as chief of maintenance, which involved testing all airplanes by flight after they had been repaired, he was transferred to the Hawaiian theater, where he served in the same capacity. From Hawaii, he was transferred to Oklahoma A. & M. College.

AIRFORCE PERSONNEL

The airforce, separated from the ground forces less than a year ago, provides training in leadership, drill and exercise of command, airforce inspection procedure, airforce management, and aerodynamics and propulsion for all ROTC cadets enrolled at Oklahoma A. & M. College. The airforce officers and airmen assist Colonel Brann in teaching these subjects. The airforce ROTC unit maintains its own offices on the second floor of the Old Gym.

GROUND FORCE PERSONNEL

The ground force units of the Oklahoma A. & M. College military department are the infantry, corps of engineers, signal corps and the ordnance. All ground force ROTC cadets study in one of these fields and more than 20 ground force officers and enlisted men, regular army personnel, make up the teaching staff. Tactics, construction, message center operation, ammunition and small arms material are typical courses taught in the different branches.

CADET CORPS

Grodsky, Sidney: Mills, Harry; Poole, Calvin; Walker, Luther; Lakin, Clem; Craig, James; Neal, Barney; Lindsey, Robert.

The cadet corps staff of the ROTC unit at Oklahoma A. & M. College is the coordinating and command group of the corps. Its membership, chosen by a board of officers in the military department, is composed of men from all branches of the ROTC. The cadet first colonel is the commanding officer of the corps staff and of the entire ROTC corps, which is composed of the airforce wing, the infantry regiment and the composite regiment.

LAVERNA MATHEWS, Honorary Cadet Colonel

As traditional as the Freshman queen, the Honorary Cadet Colonel of the Oklahoma A. & M. ROTC corps is chosen annually from a highly select group of campus coeds. The Honorary Cadet Colonel is elected by the entire cadet corps, so that basic cadets along with the advanced cadet officers will have a chance to participate in the election. The Honorary Cadet Colonel attends all the military functions of the corps during the year, including the formal reviews, and is crowned at the annual spring military ball, considered to be one of the finest dances held on the campus each year.

AIRFORCE WING STAFF

The airforce wing of the Oklahoma A. & M. ROTC cadet corps is the youngest unit of the corps, having been established only three years ago. The wing is composed of nearly 800 basic and advanced ROTC airforce cadets.

Because of the separation from the ground forces, airforce nomenclature and identifying terms are completely different, even though the terms are synonymous. The wing is the equivalent of the ground force regiment, a group is the equivalent to the battalion, and the squadron is the equivalent to the company.

The separation from the ground forces granted the airforce autonomy, and complete control over administrative, operational, procurement and budget activities

The professor of air science and tactics and his staff have been trained to instruct all cadets in the basic qualities of the military. When a student decides to enroll in the advanced ROTC course, he has an opportunity to learn about logistics, air operations AF administration, supply and maintenance engineering.

Upon the completion of the advanced corps, the cadet will either receive a reserve commission as a second lieutenant or if the student has shown much initiative, military ability, and wide scope of knowledge and integrity, the cadet may receive a regular commission in the regular airforce.

COMPOSITE REGIMENT

The composite regiment of the ROTC unit at Oklahoma A. & M. College is a combination regiment of three battalions, the engineer, signal corps and ordnance.

The engineering reserve officers training corps unit of the composite regiment is often said to be the hardest course of study in the ROTC program. The engineering ROTC student must perfect his knowledge in all types of combat, bridge construction, road maintenance, demolitions and many other combat engineering duties.

The signal corps also requires much study and training. In the basic courses during the sophomore year, the student is taught the different organizations and missions of the signal corps. Upon enrollment in the advanced course, the cadet is given thorough training in all forms of communication, plus schooling in administrative procedure, darkroom technique and weapons and marksmanship.

The youngest service in the ROTC unit is the ordnance branch. Begun three years ago, it has grown until it now ranks among the top departments in both equipment and instructors.

The advance courses of ordnance are built around the different phases of ordnance training with the emphasis on fire control, small arms, automotive and ammunition material, plus work in combat intelligence, command and staff.

INFANTRY REGIMENT

The infantry regiment of the Oklahoma A. & M. College ROTC cadet corps has the distinction of being the descendant of the oldest branch of service in the military department.

When the college was founded, a provision of the Morrill act made it compulsory for students to take some form of military training, and the first course taught was knowledge about the "foot soldier." This was more than 20 years before the ROTC came into existence.

Like the rest of the branches, all cadets who complete the basic infantry course are eligible to enroll in the advanced course and enter into competition for a regular commission.

Because it is the largest regiment in the corps, the infantry confers more commissions each year than any other branch. Also, because of the training given in the infantry, it isn't unusual for the cadet corps staff to have a majority of infantry cadet officers on it.

Leadership, drill and exercise of command are stressed in both the two-year basic course and in the two-year advanced course of infantry training. Besides these three broad subjects, intensive study is also given in the advanced course to combat tactics of the infantry battalion and company in defense and in attack, a broad knowledge is gained by studying troop movements, organization of infantry units, estimate of situation and combat orders, and all fields that an infantry officer should know.

All graduates of the advanced course of infantry training receive a second lieutenant's commission in the U. S. army reserve and many have the opportunity of accepting a regular commission.

CAPT. JOHN SHAW U. S. Army, Sponsor The local chapter of Pershing Rifles, company "C," 7th regiment, has had its name altered three times since it was first organized on the Oklahoma A. & M. College campus in 1929 under the society, "Fourragere." Chartered as company "A" of the 5th regiment of Pershing Rifles, national military fraternity for basic ROTC students, on April 22, 1932, the charter was changed to company "C" of the 2nd regiment. The following year the present charter was issued.

Proficiency in military science and tactics based on high standards of drill and discipline characterize the organization of Pershing Rifles. Founded at the University of Nebraska in 1896, Pershing Rifles bears the name of its founder, John J. Pershing, who was at that time commandant of cadets. During the Spanish-American war, a military unit composed solely of Pershing Riflemen received distinction as a result of successful maneuvers and action.

The local chapter of Pershing Rifles, which was inactivated during the war, was reorganized in 1947. Members of Pershing Rifles act as ushers and are responsible for the presentation of colors at home football games, furnish a color guard for the reviews of the cadet corps and provide honor guards for other special military occasions and activities.

Prominent in service rendered to the college and social activities Pershing Rifles has an active membership on the campus of approximately 80 members and officers. All members must demonstrate leadership and a high degree of scholarship in military instruction.

Company C-7 of Pershing Rifles has had possession of the national rifle trophy, won at the national drill and rifle competition meet, for the past two years of 1948 and 1949.

Traditional activities of the organization include "courtesy week," which is a period of pledge training planned to prepare the pledge to understand the true significance of military science and tactics. Each day, distinctive programs are outlined emphasizing the work and play of military action. During the week, the pledges are formed twice daily, at 7 a.m. and again at 5 p.m. During their formation the pledges are drilled, given calisthenics and pledge instruction. Unique pledge activities include the guarding of girls' residence halls and sororities, cutting square corners, counting cadence, issuance of commands to themselves while moving across the campus and sounding time upon entering campus buildings.

Climax of "courtesy week" is an all-night maneuver based on strategy studied during the previous week. Final action before initiation is a military examination which ascertains the degree of military proficiency and understanding the pledges have attained.

The 7th Regimental Headquarters Pershing Rifles is the coordinating agency for all company activity in the four-state area of the southwestern United States. An extensive expansion program was carried on during the school year, culminating in a close-knit, cooperative organization.

At the recently held regimental assembly which terminates the social military activities for the year, a new regimental commanding officer was elected. Highlights of the assembly were inter-company competition in drill and rifle marksmanship, a banquet and a ball at which old regimental officers were retired and new officers were commissioned. Colonel Thomas O. Murton and Captain H. L. Hunter represented the 7th regiment at the national convention in Dayton, Ohio. The chief business of the convention was the drafting of a new constitution which at present is in the process of being ratified by the companies of the society.

Much of the credit for the successful operations of this organization is due to Captain John M. Shaw, faculty advisor.

Another national trophy was added in 1949 to the Oklahoma A. & M. military department's long list of honors and distinctions when the ROTC rifle team won the national Hearst matches in competition with more than 1,000 colleges and universities.

The victory marked the first time the Hearst trophy had been won by an A. & M. team. Along with this, the team took top honors in the 4th army matches, the 4th Army Hearst matches and the National Intercollegiate sectional matches. Also, more than 20 postal matches, many against the best teams in the nation, were put on the victory side of the ledger by Aggie shooters.

Two individuals on the team also received national distinction. They were Leslie Stephenson, who won the national high individual score for the Hearst matches, and David Hamilton, who was listed on the all-American rifle team.

First Sgt. Roy Edwards, range sergeant for the past two years, guided the team. Captain John M. Shaw, an Aggie graduate, was newly-appointed range officer.

"K" company, second regiment of Scabbard and Blade, the Oklahoma A. & M. College chapter of the national honorary military fraternity, completed one of its most successful years since the organization received its charter at A. & M. in 1920.

Scabbard and Blade was founded at the University of Wisconsin in the fall of 1904 by five cadets. These men saw a need for an organization to unite in closer relationship the students of like interests and ambitions of military departments of the various colleges and universities of this country. From this small group a nation-wide fraternity has evolved and its alumni have taken their place as leaders in military affairs in civilian communities. During its 30 years of existence, "K" company of Scabbard and Blade has become the nation's foremost college military organization.

The membership roll, boosted by a large enrollment in the advanced courses in military science, was over the 70 mark. The rifle team of "K" company won the society's national trophy in marksmanship, in competition with the 80 other companies. Two pledge classes, largest in the Oklahoma A. & M. chapter's history, showed spirit and leadership.

The intramural football team proved military men could be very proficient in sports by winning six games, and losing out in the playoffs after a hard fought game with a team which later won the championship.

The military society's membership is composed of men who show leadership ability, have good character, and who have a good scholastic rating. To be eligible for membership, a man must have completed at least one semester of advanced military science with a "B" average, and have an overall grade point average of better than 2.0. The service bar of the fraternity, which is worn on the student's ROTC uniform, is a red and blue bar, superimposed with five gold stars.

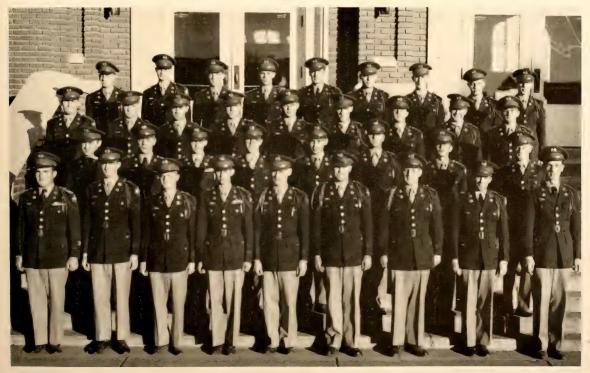

The military organization acted as an honor guard when Major General Handy, of the Fourth army, visited the campus. It marked the first time the commanding officer had visited Oklahoma A. & M. College.

The highlight in the social calendar of the organization is the formal banquet which is held each semester before the Officers club military ball. A party was given by the military society for the members and pledges of Alpha Chi Omega sorority in appreciation for the entertainment given by the sorority at the annual spring banquet of the fraternity last June.

"Heinie week," during which time new pledges are trained for membership in the fraternity, is held once each semester. During the week, pledges are required to attend two formations daily. At the formations, the heinies drill the "heinie company" to obtain practice in command, take calisthenics and receive other pledge instruction. Other pledge duties consist of supplying members with cigarets, chewing gum and candy, addressing members as "general," polishing the cannons on the campus and carrying large wooden sabers. The highlight of the "hell-week" is a tactical problem on Saturday during which the pledges must take a Hill from the members. On Sunday morning, formal initiation, followed by a breakfast given in honor of the new members, is held.

Under the leadership of Dwight Hatcher, captain of "K" company, the organization has secured its position as the top military organization on the campus. Its members have proved their ability by being named to nearly all of the top ranks in the ROTC corps. Five out of seven officers on the corps staff are Blade members and top rank in the infantry, airforce and composite regiments were awarded to deserving members of the organization.

CAPT. JOHN SHAW Sponsor

SGT. ROY EDWARDS

The women's rifle team brought credit to itself and to the college this year by taking second place in the women's National Intercollegiate rifle matches. This is the second time that the Aggie coed shooters have defeated every women's team in the nation except one, and lost to it, the champion, by a small number of points.

The women's rifle team lost none of the 10 postal matches shot during the year. This adds another 10 games to the team's untarnished record of never losing a postal match.

The team was reorganized in 1947 and has proved itself to be one of the most popular sports on the A. & M. college campus.

Any Aggie coed has a chance to participate on the rifle team by trying out at the Old Gym range. The team members are chosen from the girls who make the best score during the tryout periods.

Sergeant Roy Edwards is in charge of the women's rifle team, and Captain John M. Shaw is the faculty sponsor.

MAJOR OSCAR MALL U. S. Army, Sponsor The Officers club, composed of all students taking advanced ROTC, has a double purpose, that of service as well as social activities. It provides a social organization for the military students of the college and presents a society equal to officers clubs at military posts throughout the nation. It thus provides valuable training for the advanced military students, most of whom will have the opportunity of becoming officers, either in the reserve corps or the regular army, upon graduation from college.

The main social event of the club is the annual military ball held in the spring. Presented in Gallagher hall last year, the ball was one of the most colorful social occasions of the year. The highlight of each ball is the crowning of the Honorary Cadet Colonel, always one of the most beautiful girls on the campus. Sponsored by the Officers club and elected by the entire cadet corps, she acts as honorary cadet commander of the ROTC corps participating in all its major activities.

Sponsored by Major Oscar Mall, of the ROTC staff, and under the direct supervision of the military department, the Officers club was headed by John Ramsey and included Eugene Lawley, vice-president; Don Palmer, treasurer; Roger Nicholson, secretary, and Delbert Gregory, sergeant-at-arms.

GROUP 5

The following anthology portrays the individual in the homogeneous orbits of fraternities, sororities and independent groups, small organizations and "in groups" composed of persons with similar ideals and purposes. Within these spheres college men and women find life-long friends, warmth and a truer sense of belonging. These circles provide a means for athletic and other forms of friendly competition between one another and weld students into a more effective living unit.

Membership of the Men's Interfraternity council is composed of the president and an appointee from each of the fraternities at Oklahoma A. & M. The presidents of the council are selected successively from the fraternities in rotational order according to their installation dates. The vice-president is selected from the fraternity following, in sequence of installation, the fraternity from which the president is chosen. The secretary-treasurer is elected by a popular vote from the membership of the council.

Each year, the Men's Interfraternity council, cooperating with the Women's Panhellenic council on the selection of a date, sponsors a highly successful and entertaining ribbon dance in honor of all new pledges, fraternity and sorority.

IFC events for the year included operation of the annual interfraternity athletic program with cups and plaques being awarded the victorious fraternities; pledging and initiation business and the sponsorship of the scholastic cups awarded at the end of each semester to the fraternity with the highest grade point average.

This year marked the beginning of two new annual functions; the interfraternity council Christmas Carol and the sponsoring of a program to help the underprivileged children of Stillwater.

It is the purpose of the IFC to foster a spirit of friendliness and cooperative helpfulness among all fraternities on the campus and to provide an agency by means of which fraternities can cooperate in matters of common concern.

The Interfraternity Pledge council is sponsored by the Men's Interfraternity council but has its own constitution and acts as a separate organization. The pledge council is composed of the president and an elected representative from each of the fraternity pledge classes at Oklahoma A. & M. College.

The pledge council meets on alternate Thursdays, rotating its meeting place among various fraternity houses according to the seniority of the fraternity. The council makes policy recommendations to the participating pledge classes and assists them with their organization problems.

The Interfraternity Pledge council jointly sponsors several functions during the school year on the campus. With the cooperation of the Men's Interfraternity council and the Panhellenic council, an annual ribbon dance is held immediately following rush week to honor new pledges of the sororities and fraternities on the campus.

Following the ribbon dance, the annual Interfraternity Pledge Council dance was held in the Old Gym on the night of November II. Another function was a pledge picnic held in the spring and a stag party for all the pledges in February. By the rotation plan, Kappa Sigma furnished the president, Ray Cotten. Other officers are Les Moore, vice-president, and Dave Leonard, secretary-treasurer.

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

OFFICERS

BARBARA CASAD .				President
MARJORIE BLACKBURN				Secretary
AVERII GLINITER				Treasurer

The Women's Panhellenic council is comprised of the president and one delegate from each of the nine national women's panhellenic fraternities on the Oklahoma A. & M. College campus, and works directly with the office of the dean of women. These sororities are Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Delta Pi, Chi Omega, Delta Zeta, Kappa Alpha Theta, Kappa Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Pi Beta Phi and Zeta Tau Alpha.

The purpose of the organization is "to maintain on a high plane, fraternity life and interfraternity relationships and to cooperate with the college authorities in their effort to maintain high social and scholastic standards." The council acts as a forum for the discussion of questions of interest in the college and fraternity world and makes the rules which govern rushing, pledging, and initiation of this campus.

Each women's fraternity helps sponsor one of the annual projects during the school year. This year Zeta Tau Alpha and Kappa Alpha Theta were in charge of the panhellenic workshop, which was designed to take the place of the annual regional conventions. The altruistic program, which gives instruction on present day questions, was also sponsored by the two groups. Pi Beta Phi was in charge of the Campus Chest drive while other projects and sponsors were the spring reception, Alpha Chi Omega; rush booklets, Kappa Delta and Chi Omega; officers' teas Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Junior Panhellenic, Delta Zeta.

SARALEE FISHER, President

The Junior Panhellenic council is a panhellenic training program for pledges. This organization is similar to the Women's Panhellenic council and is composed of the pledge president, a regular delegate, and an alternate of each of the nine panhellenic women's fraternities on the campus.

The purpose of the Junior Panhellenic is to acquaint pledges with the organization purposes, and activities of senior panhellenic, to discuss problems common to the various fraternity pledges and to develop a broader understanding of leadership among all college groups.

Officers are selected by the individual pledge class according to the alphabetical order of women's fraternities on the campus. The president for the year was from the Kappa Kappa Gamma women's fraternity. Members are Mary Miles Smith, Jo Ann Conway, Janice McClendon, Pat Baker, Gayle Osborne, Suenell Wimer, Amber Cooper, Dot Warner, Evanell Johnson, Betty Spurlock, Betty Cherry, Leah Ward, Jody Morrison, Saralee Fisher, Marty Williamson, Sallye Ruth McGregor, Mary Dial and Norma McGhee.

Men, 193 strong, took up permanent residence in North Murray hall at the beginning of the 1949 fall semester after Aggie coeds abandoned the hall in favor of the recently-completed New Dorm.

Hastily organized and operating on a small entertainment budget, the men managed, nevertheless, to win first place in hall decorations during homecoming and hold a Christmas party.

Jam sessions are an everyday occurrence in the hall, with an eightpiece outfit that practices regularly in the living room. Seven different campus musical organizations are represented by residents of the hall.

Mrs. Lyda Tidwell is hostess of the hall, moving from Willard hall after years of continuous service there as night hostess.

The dormitory was named in honor of former Gov. William H. Murray and is a smaller replica of the four-story Georgian design found in Murray hall.

Grand Council is an organization which serves as a governing body for the women's residence halls. Not only does it serve as a legislative body, but it also encourages cooperation and engenders a feeling of unity between Willard, Murray and the new dorm. This is accomplished in the council through its composition of the officers of each hall and the presidents of each dormitory floor.

Dean Stout and the head counselors of each hall—Miss Stevens, Miss Armstrong and Mrs. Stringfield—act as advisors to the council and attend all the meetings.

Grand Council was organized in June, 1943, when the women students moved from Murray hall to live in 11 of the fraternity houses called victory halls. This organization was to head the V-halls and continued to function when the girls moved back into the halls.

At the monthly meetings of the Grand Council such things are discussed as ways to further scholastic standings, group living problems, social activities and the activities of the various organizations connected with Grand Council. It assisted in the organization of the new dorm and gives financial and other aid to the weekly newspapers published by and for the three residence halls. To this constitution each hall adds its own by-laws.

Officers for the 1949-1950 school year are: president, Jo Ann Wiles; vice-president, Carrie Lee Johnson, and secretary-treasurer, Beverly Thornhill.

Lasting friendships and a true spirit of democracy can be found among the 435 girls who, during their four years of college, call Willard hall home.

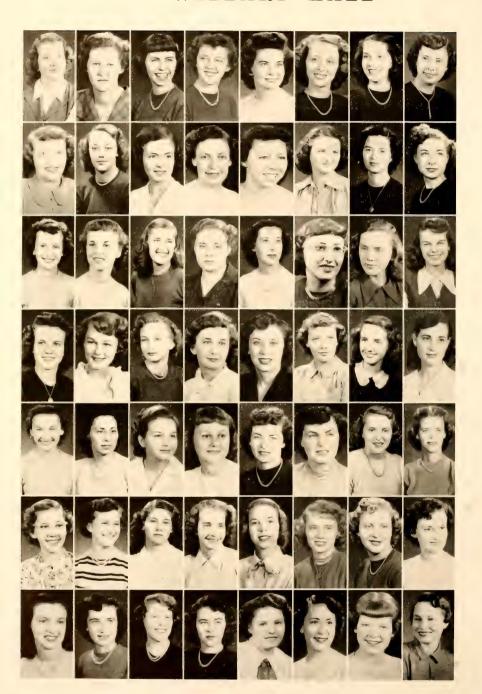

Named for Frances E. Willard, the hall is of modified Georgian architecture and combines the elements of beauty, efficiency and comfort. The interior reflects a modern treatment of the 18th century furnishings and is accented by two smaller living rooms on either side of the main lounge.

Mrs. Virginia Pope and Mrs. Ruby Crozier supervise the hall and act as official hostesses to all visitors. Miss Julia L. Stephens is head counselor.

The girls who live in the house work closely together to produce two formal dances, several informal parties and the float and house decorations at homecoming all of which have gained Willard hall an outstanding name at A. & M.

Murray hall, situated on the southwest corner of the Oklahoma A. & M. campus, commands an excellent view of the entire institution, as well as beautiful Theta pond.

The hall was named in honor of William H. Murray, governor of the state of Oklahoma when the building was constructed.

Head of residence at Murray hall is Mrs. Maud Latimer, assisted by Mrs. Mabel Clingenpeel. Miss Wilma Armstrong, educational advisor, is assisted by student counselors who supervise study halls and help students with academic and social problems.

Murrayites hold their own as leaders in college clubs and honorary organizations. Individually and collectively, the girls take part in all contests, campaigns and intramural sports.

Murray hall did not lack in winning queen contestants this year, with Doris Bassett chosen as the "O" club queen.

One of the main social events of the year was the annual Christmas formal held December 17 in the dining room of Murray hall.

Murray Hall girls and their dates enjoy the hall's wide front porch that overlooks Theta pond and the campus.

The New Dorm was open to undergraduate women for the first time in the fall of 1949.

The building is of modified Georgian architecture and has many modern features. The main lounge of the hall is of Georgian style with modern furnishings. Two small adjoining living rooms are of oriental and French provincial style. The building was designed by A. & M. college architect, Philip Wilber.

Mrs. Gertrude Reed is hostess of the hall, assisted by Mrs. Alice Phillips and Mrs. Anna Stringfield, head counselor.

One of the honors that the New Dorm claimed during its first year was the winning of the homecoming house decoration in the independent women's group.

The Aggie-X club was chartered in January, 1929, as the departmental club for students majoring in agricultural economics.

The objects of the club are (1) to create interest and study in the economic problems of agriculture, (2) to promote and further a closer fellowship between students, faculty and alumni members in agriculture and (3) to acquaint employers with the background and training of majors in agricultural economics and to aid in placing students on jobs commensurate with their ability and desires.

The Aggie-X club programs include former members, out-of-town speakers, local businessmen and members of the faculty. Current problems relating to agriculture are discussed and each member may contribute to the discussion by asking questions or presenting his view of the problem.

Last year the local club prompted a movement to coordinate the activities of similar clubs through a national association. Its goal was realized when delegates of clubs from A. & M. and other colleges were granted charters of affiliation through an organization known as the student section of the American Farm Economic association.

The Aggiettes chose those words to describe their aims and functions, and they have fully and enthusiastically lived up to them. They constantly strive to increase school spirit and are always on their toes to take advantage of the opportunities for service that present themselves. Their activities are designed to initiate the "green" coed into campus pep life, and to well establish school spirit within her.

At all athletic events, football, basketball, and wrestling, the Aggiettes can be identified by the striking combination of their white sweaters and black skirts with the word "AGGIETTES" across the sweater in a brilliant orange.

They have two pledge periods each school year. The fall pledging is climaxed by the annual homecoming football game. Courtesy week precedes homecoming and the pledges are required to wear white shirts and black skirts all week. The fact that they are pledges is announced by the large placard that each one wears. To top off the sight, each girl's hair is in pigtails and tied with orange and black ribbons. At the end of Courtesy Week, the pledges are initiated into the order at an initiation tea. Also during courtesy week, the pledges are required to eat all their meals in square fashion, and to attend a 5 o'clock meeting each afternoon to remain at the mercy of the members until 5:50. One of the highlights of courtesy week was the Ruf-Nex banquet which all members and pledges attended. The Ruf-Nex is the brother organization of the Aggiettes.

The two organizations join forces during the semester and sponsor an all-campus dance. The dance this year was a ranch theme. Music was furnished by Merle Lindsay and his Oklahoma Night Riders. The dancers danced at the "Rockin' AR Ranch."

Other plans for the spring semester include another pledge class and a joint "get-acquainted" picnic with the Ruf-Nex.

The Aggiettes are limited in number, but they make up in spirit, enthusiasm, and exuberance for all else that is lacking. The girls in the white and black uniforms are always present at school rallies and athletic events. They are the nucleus of the student cheering section, and are instrumental in keeping school spirit at a maximum.

The group has established itself as an outstanding campus pep organization throughout the school year. Win or lose, the A. & M. squads may be assured of a loyal, enthusiastic Aggiette audience.

The Aggiettes point with pride to the cooperative attitude of its members in regard to all of their activities. Whether it was before, after, or during a game, the entire organization was working to help Oklahoma A. & M. attain a higher rung on the ladder of accomplishment.

Plans are now being made for an even more successful season next year, and it is hoped that everyone will endeavor to help the group in their purpose of creating more pep and spirit at games.

The Aggie society is one of the oldest organizations on the A. & M. campus, having been formed in 1900. Enrollment in the Division of Agriculture automatically makes a student a member of Aggie society.

The primary purpose of Aggie society is to promote wider acquaintance and better cooperation among the students enrolled in agriculture.

The outstanding events for Aggie society occur in the spring. The major event is the Aggie princess race in which each of the departmental clubs sponsors a candidate who is elected by popular vote within the Division of Agriculture. The Aggie princess is crowned on Aggie day and reigns over that day's activities and throughout the following school year. Aggie day consists of a huge all-day picnic, followed that night with a semi-formal dance.

Miss JoAnn Ragland is the present possessor of the Aggie society's beauty crown.

The Aggie society is governed by the Aggie council, composed of the officers of the society and the presidents of all agricultural organizations.

The Agronomy club is composed of students interested in field crops, soils and related fields. It was founded in 1922 and affiliated with the junior section of the American Society of Agronomy in 1934. The purpose of the club is for its members to have fellowship and widen their acquaintance in the field of agronomy. The chapter is the largest and most active in the nation.

The club sponsored the crops judging team which won national and international championships at Kansas City and Chicago, respectively. The team was first at Kansas City with first, second, and eighth high individuals and at Chicago the team was first with first, third and fourth high individuals. The team had the highest team score and the highest individual score ever made at Chicago. In the national essay contest sponsored annually by the American Society of Agronomy for men doing undergraduate work in agronomy, club members placed first, second and fourth this year. Abstracts of the three high place papers were published in the Agronomy Journal.

The club sponsors a junior college crops judging contest and awards medals and other prizes to the high teams and individuals. A freshman-sophomore and a junior-senior intercollegiate judging contest is held each year and is open to anyone who wishes to enter. Also sponsored by the club is an annual FFA judging contest. The 1949 contest attracted 90 teams to the A. & M. campus or a total of 275 individuals. Plans are being prepared for next near's contest which is expected to be even larger.

Each year, about the beginning of the new semester, the club publishes a news letter containing departmental news, functions of the club, and addresses and activities of alumni. This publication is well received by alumni in the field.

The club enters a float in the homecoming parade. This year it depicted the baling of the Kansas Jayhawks. The float utilized four pieces of machinery and 10 men, and though nearly a "parade in itself" it did not take the honors.

Each year at the beginning of the fall semester the club sets up a series of objectives to be carried out during the school year. This year they included completion of a memorial case containing pictures and records of all alumni killed in World war II, redecoration of exhibit cases in the clubroom and the making of a permanent sign to designate the club room.

Each year the faculty and a committee from the club select an outstanding senior in both field crops and soils. They are selected on a basis of scholarship, personality and leadership. Last year they were Bob Wright from field crops and Don Fourier from soils. They are now both in the field with the soil conservation service.

The main social event of the year is the spring picnic given by the club for all members, dates and faculty. It is an all day affair with dancing and games and climaxed with a softball game between the students and faculty. Clay Potts serves dinner at noon and refreshments are available during the afternoon.

Besides the business meeting, a social meeting is held each month. This meeting gives an opportunity for fellowship and presents entertainment by club members or local talent. Guest speakers from the field of Agriculture or closely related fields are brought before the club after selection by the executive council.

The American Institute of Electrical Engineers was founded in 1896 for the purpose of advancing the theory and practice of electrical engineering and of the allied arts and sciences and the maintenance of a high professional standing among its members. The A. & M. branch of A. I. E. E. was reactivated in 1945, and at the present time it has over 250 active members. Regularly enrolled students in the School of Electrical Engineering are eligible for student membership in the association.

The objectives of the student branches are to develop initiative and familiarity with technical society procedure, and to encourage association among students of electrical engineering. Through the institute's national publication, "Electrical Engineering," student members may keep posted on recent developments in the field of electrical engineering.

The A. I. E. E. is the only national electrical engineering organization that covers all phases of electrical engineering; therefore, from a student's point of view an organization of such a broad scope is an advantage.

The Oklahoma A. & M. chapter of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers has a double purpose: (1) to provide a link with the profession and acquaint double-E students with real life problems; and (2) to serve as a means of training students in the preparation and presentation of formal technical papers.

This society, though primarily concerned with such items as wheatstone bridges and electrons, does perform a structural feat in "bridging" the gap between electrical engineering as a college major and electrical engineering as a trade. Fun and fellowship for members is an all-important by-product.

An unusually large enrollment in electrical engineering this year has helped the society to be both very large and very active. The growth in enrollment is paralleled by that of the profession, which is continuing to expand through research and development.

Membership in the student branch is open to any undergraduate electrical engineer after his freshman year, but the presentation of papers in the seminar work is restricted to seniors. Each student member has the opportunity of becoming a full member of the society upon graduation.

Meetings are held regularly and many interesting programs have been arranged. Several outstanding guest speakers have appeared here during the past year, providing a direct contact with the practicing fields.

But all is not technical, since the electrical engineers at A. & M. sometimes discard books, slide rules, and electrons for a strictly social hour. Several smoker and coffee drinking sessions have been held during the past year. Smoker fumes have been known to corrode the generators and bathe the Engineering building with a purplish haze.

The officers for the year include David L. Johnson, counselor; A. Lloyd Gelmers, chairman; James C. Sindt, vice-chairman, and Donald D. Argue, secretary-treasurer.

Modern industry has found an increasing need for engineers who understand the "human element" in industry. This need is met by the industrial engineer. The industrial engineer's ranks have grown to proportions equal to well-established branches of engineering. An organization was soon found necessary as a means to coordinate and exchange ideas and experiences. Recognizing the potential value of such a national organization, industrial engineers formed the AIIE in the spring months of 1948 at Dayton, Ohio. Local professional and student chapters soon followed.

The Oklahoma A. & M. student chapter of AIIE is one of the most recent arrivals to the Aggie campus. On March 10, 1949, the local chapter drew its first breath as the seventh chapter of AIIE to be formed. Actually, it was an outgrowth of a local Society of Industrial Engineers, consisting of students in industrial engineering, which had its beginning in 1924.

This chapter furnished an opportunity for student social and educational functions, and has played an important part in the development of leadership so necessary in industry today. Some of these functions include "first meeting" smoker field trips to Oklahoma industries, dinner party honoring graduating seniors, motion pictures of industrial engineering problems and developments in industry and short discussions and talks by various professional men.

The industrial engineering curriculum was introduced into the Division of Engineering at Oklahoma A. & M. College by Prof. H. G. Thuesen in 1925. The course is basically engineering with its foundation in mathematics and the sciences, but the emphasis is upon the human factors and the economic aspects which are essential in engineering work.

This course may be divided into two classes: those in which the science and practices of industry are taught and those in which the student learns how the human, economic and technical factors of engineering are coordinated.

To give the student an opportunity to integrate these two classes, the course in factory and industrial planning was added in 1928. In this course, the student applies such subjects as engineering economy, industrial organization, principles of management, motion and time study, tool design, and labor relations, as well as many other subjects in basic engineering. Thus, it represents a culmination of engineering studies in general and industrial material in particular.

Several courses in accounting, economics and business administration are also required, as working knowledge of economics, finance and human relations is essential to engineering leadership.

Industrial engineering is thus the art and science of management and engineering which attempts to get maximum yield from industrial, commercial, domestic and other fields of human endeavor.

The industrial engineer goes into the world prepared to engage in the technical and managerial phases of industry. Activity in such organizations as the AIIE, aids the graduate in his ability to get along with people. This ability to cooperate with people when combined with the technical knowledge acquired produces the well-rounded individual.

Tau Chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, national professional commerce fraternity, was granted its charter at A. & M. April 19, 1920. Since that date, Alpha Kappa Psi has been recognized as an important part of the Division of Commerce of Oklahoma A. & M. College and has continued to promote professional activities that bring its members in contact with concrete problems of the business world.

The aims of Alpha Kappa Psi are to further the individual welfare of its members, to foster scientific research in the fields of commerce, accounting and finance; to educate the public to appreciate and demand higher ideals therein and to promote and advance courses leading to degrees in the Division of Commerce.

Highlights of activities during the past year included regular professional meetings, talks and roundtable discussions by prominent businessmen and industrial tours to well-known business organizations in Oklahoma.

The fraternity was founded at New York university on Oct. 5, 1904 and is now represented by 65 active chapters. Membership is selected from those students of sophomore standing who have attained a scholastic average of 2.5 in the School of Commerce.

Alpha Pi Mu, honorary premedical fraternity, was established on both the campuses of Oklahoma A. & M. College and Oklahoma university in the fall of 1931. The fraternity was founded for the purpose of bringing together persons of medical inclinations so as to furnish them with an atmosphere for the exchange of ideas pertaining to medical science.

Modern emancipation of women has resulted in the transformation of the fraternity from a men's organization into one including both men and women. The group is composed of those interested in, and studying to be, medical technologists, doctors, dentists and nurses.

Prerequisites to the fraternity are 28 hours of college credits, 14 of which must have been obtained at this college, a grade point average required by medical schools and approval by members of the fraternity.

A trip to the medical school of Oklahoma University, outstanding lecturers and an award to the outstanding freshman premedical student are a few of the club's many activities.

Beta chapter of Alpha Sigma Eta was organized on the Oklahoma A. & M. College campus in May, 1930. The fraternity is an honorary scouting organization for college students who have attained the rank of Eagle and are willing to pledge themselves for the purpose of the order.

Alpha Sigma Eta is organized on the campus for the purpose of leadership, fellowship and service to both the college and the community. Among the many projects of outstanding value are the memorial chapel drive, leadership among all the local scouting activities, flash card demonstrations for football games and traffic control during homecoming.

The social events include camps, dances, picnics and scouting activities.

There are 24 A. & M. men in the organization at present, with Earl Casner as president, Roy E. Norris, vice-president, and Bill Johnson, secretary-treasurer.

The objectives of Alpha Zeta are to promote the profession of agriculture and to foster high standards of scholarship, character, leadership and a spirit of fellowship among all agricultural students.

The fraternity carries out a complete program in order to afford all members an opportunity for service. Included in that program are such activities as the sponsoring of freshman and sophomore judging contests, assisting the dean of the Division of Agriculture on special events, assisting in the memorial student loan fund book collection, assisting in Religious Emphasis week, striving to improve the agriculture curriculum and presenting special awards for scholastic attainment in agriculture.

The purpose of the student branch of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers it to promote the interests of students in agricultural engineering as a profession; to provide extra curricula activities; to develop leadership among the members through participation in the branch activities; and to foster closer relationship between students and faculty.

To attain these ends, the branch has obtained outstanding men in the field of agricultural engineering as speakers for its various meetings. Dances were held for students of the department and the annual dinner-dance is being planned. Other activities that are carried on by the branch are the developing of graduate file, an active student file, a picture gallery for graduating seniors, and participation in the annual Engineering and Science exposition.

This is the first year the branch has functioned under its revised constitution which, in part, enables it to be self supporting through enterprises and dues. The branch has continued to grow and develop since its reorganization in 1945.

The Oklahoma Institute of Technology's student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers was founded in 1922.

Sponsored by the national organization, the society's aims are "the advancement of the science of engineering and architecture in their several branches, the professional improvement of its members, the encouragement of an interchange of ideas between men of practical science, and the establishment of a central point of reference and union for its members."

Activities enjoyed by the members during the past year included interesting talks by guest speakers at the bi-monthly meetings, slides and movies of technical interest, several field trips, two smokers and a party.

The largest membership ever recorded by the chapter, the group grew to 140 members during the year with John H. Dawson serving as faculty advisor. Any student registered as a civil engineering major may file application and join the chapter.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers was established in 1880 for the purpose of advancing the science of mechanical engineering throughout the world. Since the society was organized, it has done much through the improvement of mechanical engineering methods to improve the safety and well being of the peoples of the world. In conjunction with its brother societies in the fields of civil, chemical, electrical, and mining engineering, the society has propagated and maintained certain engineering standards that are accepted in all fields of engineering. Most recent of the society's work has been the establishment of an international screw thread code accepted by the United States and the British Empire. The society accomplishes its work through numerous committees and exhaustive research

The objectives of the student branches of A. S. M. E. are to develop initiative, familiarize students with technical societies, and to foster association with other mechanical engineers. Any student regularly enrolled in the School of Engineering may apply for membership in the local student branch. Upon graduation, student members may apply for promotion to junior membership in the parent organization.

Through the medium of the national society's monthly magazine, "Mechanical Engineering," students are kept abreast of developments in their profession. Interest in the student branch is fostered by the presentation of numerous speakers and demonstrations at the semi-monthly meetings of the chapter. Periodic field trips are taken to various industrial establishments in Oklahoma and neighboring states. Once each year the national society conducts a "paper" contest in which the student members of the society compete for first place and a cash award. Last year's first place winner was William Ledgerwood, a mechanical engineering student from A. & M.

The student branch of A. S. M. E. is a member of the engineering council and participates in the activities of the council. Each spring A. S. M. E. takes part in the engineering exposition by presenting an exhibit or supports those presented by the mechanical engineering department. The society's members are active on the various committees necessary for the organization and presentation of the exposition.

In past years A. S. M. E. has cooperated with Pi Tau Sigma and Chi Epsilon in conducting a high school orientation program. The purpose of this program is to familiarize high school seniors with the various fields of engineering and urge those persons who are interested to undertake the study of engineering as a profession.

Each year A. S. M. E. takes part in the preparation of the Engineers ball. This year A. S. M. E. elected Miss Betty Rountree, arts and sciences sophomore, as its candidate for Engineering queen.

Each year a certificate is given to the most outstanding student in the chapter. The award is based on the student's initiative, leadership, and aggressiveness. This year's certificate of award was presented to Jack Williams

Organized at Oklahoma A. & M. in 1946, the Aquatics club has been active in promoting a higher standard of watermanship among Aggie student through the presentation of a water pageant in the spring of each year, promoting water safety, encouraging competitive and recreational swimming and developing and recognizing good swimming form.

The purpose of the group is also to perfect swimming strokes and learn formation and pageant-type swimming.

Membership in the club is open to all students on the campus with a senior life-saving membership in good standing and who are able to pass the club's requirements. The requirements are to swim 440 yards in good form using the American crawl, the back crawl, the side stroke, the breast stroke and the elementary back stroke. The applicant must also be able to do front and surface dives in good form.

Before the club was reorganized in 1946, it had been a swimming club for coeds only. The group, now co-educational, has enlarged its membership steadily and has achieved a prominent position on the Aggie campus as an interesting and worthwhile organization in which to belong.

The spirit of the Baptist Student union can be summed up with the phrase—"It is a boy, a girl and a Bible." The BSU, as it is generally called, sponsors clean fun, the type of pleasure that comes from popcorn on a winter's night or a picnic and the "Fire Song," a retreat by a lake with blue skies and the smell of pine needles—all drawn from the master sources, from trust in Christ and boundless hope for the future.

The Baptist Student union is the link between the 2,500 Baptist students of A. & M. and the local Baptist church. Through the "student center," located at 323 Knoblock street, the organization strives to coordinate the religious and social activities of all Aggie Baptists and minister to their needs.

The BSU sponsors a vespers service at the center each evening and a prayer and devotional service each morning. One of the very popular features of the BSU program is the weekly party on the ground floor of the First Baptist church.

Kermit E. Whiteaker is minister of students, Clay Potts acts as faculty advisor and 26 students serve in various offices.

Beta Alpha Psi, national honorary and professional accounting fraternity, was founded Feb. 12, 1919, at the University of Illinois. Chi chapter is the 22nd chapter of the fraternity and was installed on the Oklahoma A. & M. College campus on May 16, 1939. The rules of conduct fostered by Beta Alpha Psi are positive in character and relate primarily to the individual department of the young accountant as an employee of a firm of professional accountants, or as an employee of a business enterprise.

The purpose of the fraternity is to encourage and foster the idea of service as the basis of the profession; to promote the study of accounting with the view of securing the highest ideals; to act as a medium between professional men, instructors, students and others interested in the development of the profession; and to maintain high scholastic standards in its members.

Membership is restricted to accounting majors and minors who have completed not less than 12 semester hours of work in accounting with a grade-point average of 3.0 and whose general average in all subjects falls not lower than 2.5.

Blue Key, national honorary leadership fraternity for men, was organized on the campus of the University of Florida in 1924. The man who conceived the idea for Blue Key, and who led in its organization, was Maj. B. C. Riley, then on the university faculty, and now the national president of the fraternity.

Major Riley felt that college men had ability and sincerity that was not being put to proper use, and that a fraternity was needed to bind college men together in serving their particular school. The first service rendered by the organization at Florida was the sponsoring of Dad's day and homecoming. After the success of these two undertakings, the same students met regularly to discuss other ways of improving student life and participation in student activities.

Since its beginning in 1924, Blue Key has grown into a national organization of 76 collegiate chapters located on all the major campuses of the United States. Major Riley had two beliefs in mind when he headed the founding of Blue Key. One, that college leaders are God-fearing, law-abiding young citizens who believe that worthwhile progress can be best made through the orderly processes of evolution and not revolution. Second, he believed that students are men and must be treated as such, and that they are men willing to accept responsibility, willing to cooperate with faculty, willing to work with their fellow students, and capable of putting across ideas and ideals creating the right attitudes which will do much to improve student life and welfare.

Blue Key had its beginning at Oklahoma A. & M. College May 18, 1932, when the local chapter was installed with 12 members. Since that time, the growth of the fraternity has increased to keep up with the growth of the school. At present, the membership is well over the 50 mark.

Each year Blue Key sponsors a carnival with different organizations of the campus entering side shows and skill games. To the organization which shows the most originality in presenting its show or game, and who achieves monetary success, Blue Key presents a loving cup. Beta Theta Pi won the carnival cup this year.

Blue Key draws its membership from the recognized leaders of the campus—men who have shown outstanding ability not only in scholarship, but also in taking responsibility in campus organizations. There are Blue Key members in all of the student publications on the campus, in the student senate, the Independent Men's Residence Halls council and the Independent party, the social fraternities and the Representative party. Blue Key members are officers or members in nearly all student clubs and organizations on the campus, both professional and honorary.

As the objective of Blue Key is service, it is the constant purpose of each chapter to cooperate with the college administration and with the administration of the student governing body to coordinate student leadership from various divisions of the campus.

Blue Key membership identifies a college man as one of all-around ability, good character, qualities for leadership, and the confidence of his fellow students.

The Block and Bridle club was founded in 1919 by members of the livestock judging teams from Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and Iowa, while attending the International Livestock show at Chicago. The local chapter of Block and Bridle was organized in 1920 as the Hoof and Horn club. In 1922 it was accepted by the national Block and Bridle organization. The local club has had two national presidents, Dr. W. A. Craft (1923–1926) and Dr. C. P. Thompson (1932-1933).

The purpose of Block and Bridle is to maintain a bond of friendship between students and professors of animal husbandry and livestock breeders. Other purposes of the organization are to promote a high standard of scholarship among animal husbandry students, to promote understanding and fellowship between those engaged in the different phases of animal husbandry and to encourage competition in intercollegiate judging contests.

Eligibility for membership in the Block and Bridle club is limited to any student in the Division of Agriculture who has chosen animal husbandry for his major.

The club sponsors judging contests for freshman and sophomore students in Agriculture and a judging contest for members and pledges of Block and Bridle. It also sponsors the Little International Livestock show which was a one-day show held last November with great success. The proceeds from these events are used to defray the expenses of the members of the livestock and meats judging teams to the American Royal, and International Livestock show, and National Western show, and the Fort Worth Fat Stock show. There the teams compete with teams from other colleges.

Senior members of the club assist county agents and vocational agriculture teachers of the state in the 4-H and FFA judging contests held each year by holding practice judging contests at the college throughout the year.

Since the club has been organized it is recognized as one of the outstanding organizations in the Division of Agriculture, and all animal husbandry students are highly desirous of obtaining membership in the club. Due to the accomplishments of this outstanding organization, all Aggies from far and near deem it a privilege to be called a member.

Officers for the year were president, Ralph Hess Jr.; vice-president, Gib Lipe; secretary, T. J. Allen; treasurer, Frank Bates; reporter, Windell Shockey, and sergeant-at-arms, Dennis Dimity. The faculty advisor for this year was J. C. Hillier.

The Block and Bridle club will conclude this year by calling it one of the most successful years of its history on the A. & M. campus. This cannot be attributed to one man, but to the whole group working together under the direction and supervision of Professor Hillier and leadership of the president, Ralph Hess Jr.

Since the founding of Block and Bridle in 1919, it has spread to the campuses of 26 other agricultural colleges.

Chi Epsilon, a national honorary civil engineering fraternity, was organized to recognize those characteristics of the individual engineer deemed fundamental to the successful pursuit of his career, and to aid in the development of those characteristics in the undergraduate. Membership is composed of student engineers in the upper third of the junior and senior classes.

Chi Epsilon was founded at the University of Illinois in 1922. The Oklahoma Institute of Technology chapter was chartered in May 1941, with 27 charter members. Today, over 125 men have been initiated into the fraternity.

The policy of the organization is to recognize the outstanding civil engineering students, to encourage any movement which will advance the best interest of engineering education, and to cooperate with the American Society of Civil Engineers in the promotion of events and projects of general interest and benefit to the civil and associated engineering departments.

Chi Gamma lota, national honorary veterans society, was founded at the University of Illinois in 1946. The purpose of the organization being that of giving recognition to veterans doing outstanding work in colleges and universities and to foster good fellowship among its members. Since that date, chapters have been organized on many other campuses throughout the nation.

The Beta chapter was organized at Oklahoma A. & M. College in the spring semester of 1948 by a group of veterans who recognized the value of such a society on this campus. Members are chosen from veterans who have an over-all grade point average of 3.0, or have had such an average for the last two consecutive semesters. Graduate students may be admitted if they have an average of 3.5. All members must maintain their scholastic standing or are dropped from the society.

Although the chapter is comparatively new on the Oklahoma A. & M. campus, it has gained a substantial membership and held several smokers and parties throughout the year, as well as monthly business meetings.

The Choral club, directed by L. N. Perkins, is one of the oldest vocal musical organizations on the Oklahoma A. & M. campus. The purpose of the Choral club is to afford every student on the campus who is not a music major an opportunity to learn to use his voice in its proper vocal setting. This will enable the student, in later life, to participate in other musical organizations and to develop a greater appreciation for music.

On Tuesday, Dec. 20, the Choral club presented its annual Christmas concert. The concert included the Sleep of the Child Jesus, Lift Thine Eyes, On Great Lone Hills, In Silent Night, He Shall Feed His Flocks, White Christmas, and Winter Wonderland. Mary Maude Moore, contralto, was soloist in the concert. Also featured on the program were the Aggie Sweethearts.

Because of its consistently large enrollment, the activities of Choral club are necessarily limited to one program each semester. Plans have been made for the presentation of a similar program during the Easter season.

The collegiate chapter of the Future Farmers of America was organized on the campus of Oklahoma A. & M. College on March 3, 1932. The chapter is sponsored by the department of agricultural education and is the oldest collegiate chapter in the United States. Membership includes students majoring in every department in the Division of Agriculture, although the chapter was organized especially for students of agriculture education who are planning to become teachers of vocational agriculture in the secondary schools of the state.

The organization has as its objectives: (1) to promote a spirit of cooperation and goodwill among high school and college students who are members of the Future Farmers of America organization; (2) to provide training for leadership in the activities of the Future Farmers of America for young men at A. & M. who are planning to become leaders in the Oklahoma division of the organization; (3) to promote vocational education in agriculture in the secondary schools of the state, and (4) to cooperate with the state and national organization in promoting the activities, purposes and ideals of the Future Farmers of America.

Since its reorganization following the war, the Collegiate FFA has grown to be one of the largest organizations on the campus with nearly 200 listed on the membership rolls. There are two grades of membership in the collegiate FFA chapter—the first being the green hand degree and the other the leadership degree.

Some of the activities of the chapter this year included a get-acquainted party, picnics, dances and the chapter initiation given for chapters throughout Oklahoma.

Meetings are held monthly and are of a social as well as business nature. Songs and refreshments are included in the meeting and stress is laid on the promotion of vocational education in agriculture by all speakers and in all discussion panels.

Although the organization strives to maintain a high scholastic requirement for membership, it also recognizes the needed qualities of leadership and a sense of responsibility among those applying for membership.

Since most of the members of the collegiate Future Farmers of America plan to become actively engaged in agriculture work, the A. & M. chapter of FFA has sought to help these future agricultural workers learn things which might later prove of value to them. They stress, in particular, that phase of work known as vocational agriculture.

Speakers from the college, industry and the extension division present lectures to the club at regular intervals striving always to present the students with a broader view of Oklahoma agriculture and new agricultural movements and techniques. The group hope, through better understanding of rural problems, to aid and improve the economic and educational conditions of rural America; and to cooperate with other agencies whose objectives are the improvement of farmlife in Oklahoma.

The Commerce Student council provides a means for students to express their views on the policies of administration and on faculty-student relations. The council acts in an advisory capacity to the dean of commerce and to the faculty of the school concerning ways of improving the betterment and advancement of the students in the Division of Commerce.

Students of the Division of Commerce are encouraged to offer suggestions regarding the commerce library, enrollment procedure, subjects offered, teaching methods and additional activities which the council might undertake.

Each year the council sponsors a commerce car in the homecoming parade carrying the First Lady of Commerce who is chosen at the annual election in which all students enrolled in the school vote. Commerce day is also sponsored by the council. The latest project undertaken by the council is the publication of a brochure containing pictures and general information about graduated commerce seniors. The brochure is mailed to employers over the state.

Membership is selected by a joint committee consisting of faculty and students of the previous year's council.

Delta Sigma Alpha, collegiate 4-H club, was first organized on the Oklahoma A. & M. campus in 1916.

The organization is comprised of a group of young men and women with a common interest who come together to give further training in cooperation, fellowship and leadership; to cooperate with county and state extension workers for a better rural life in Oklahoma; to keep in touch with the 4-H club movement and to continue friendships made with 4-H club members. The fraternity provides a society in which members can meet to study and discuss rural problems.

Requirement for membership is one year of active 4-H club work. However, many of the members of Delta Sigma Alpha have longtime records as club members and a number of them were state and national winners in 4-H club work.

A recent accomplishment of the organization is the publication of a news letter of current activities of the group which is sent to alumni members.

Mrs. Anna Stringfield, head counsellor of women at A. & M., is sponsor.

The Dairy Science club was formed in 1948 from the reorganization of the National Dairy club. The old dairy club was first established on the campus in 1924 but members felt a local club would better suit their needs. The group recently received a charter from the American Dairy Science association for the establishment of a student branch at this college.

The club has, for its purpose, the development of closer relationships between students and faculty. The club meetings are used as a workshop in the development of leadership, personality and cordial feelings among the members.

The local organization boasts one of the largest memberships of any like organization in the United States.

Each spring the club sponsors a contest for freshman and sophomore men in judging dairy cattle and dairy products. A contest for the title of "Dairy Science Queen" is also held each spring.

Club advisors are Prof. Morrison Loewnstein and Prof. Ernest Berousek.

JOAN HAGERS Vice-President Disciples Student fellowship, formerly Kappa Pi Epsilon at Oklahoma A. & M., is a religious group composed of Christian church preference students and resident young people of college age. Such fellowships as these are found on college and university campuses in over 30 of the 48 states and in Canada. The national office of the Disciples Student fellowship is located in Indianapolis, Ind.

The purpose of D.S.F. is to provide a fellowship of Christian students on a campus, to help individuals grow in Christian faith and commitment so these will become creative and unselfish citizens of the world. To achieve this aim and purpose, a well-rounded program is provided which includes areas of worship, social action, recreational activities, intellectual and creative growth, and emphasis and training in churchmanship. It also strives to include a world-minded outlook and interest in and promotion of ecumenical Christianity. D. S. F. cooperates closely with the World Student Christian federation.

In December, 1949, the first Disciples Student fellowship quadrennial conference was held at Dake university, Des Moines, Iowa. Approximately 500 students representing over 80 colleges and universities from more than 30 states spent five days of fine Christian fellowship together. The convention exchanged ideas and suggested ways and means for improving its program on the various campuses; vital and current social, economic and moral problems of our nation and the world were presented and discussed. The conference was guided by Christian men famous for leadership in their respective fields.

Oklahoma A. & M. College was represented by three delegates to this convention. These delegates returned from Drake with many constructive ideas, many of which are being put into practice, greatly improving the local program.

The home of the D.S.F. at A. & M. is located at 318 West street—the Christian Student center. The "center" is a three-storied structure which contains a lovely chapel, a meeting room where Sunday morning and evening services are held, a conference room, a lounge and area for games, a well-equipped kitchen, an office and a five-room apartment for a minister to students.

The center is the scene of many and varied activities—parties, inspiring devotionals, conferences, Bible study and Sunday school, discussion groups and, yes, even ping-pong tournaments. Outside recreational facilities include croquet, horseshoes, badminton, and an outdoor fireplace for barbeques and weiner roasts.

Ulmer "Corky" Gilbreath was elected president for the spring semester; Flo Brown, secretary, and Eldon Hood, treasurer.

The Rev. Romans Smith, minister of the Stillwater First Christian church, is presently acting as minister to students but the execution of plans to engage a full-time student director before another school year is now in the final stage.

The fraternity functioned as a local group, Beta Alpha, for nearly a year before being received in the national organization of Delta Sigma Pi, now the 25th largest fraternity in America; it has over 23,000 members.

The fraternity fosters and promotes brotherhood among commerce students and a better standard of ethics between men of commerce, both in and outside of college.

Delta Sigma Pi holds monthly professional meetings with guest speakers from the business world. Several industrial tours of business establishments were also conducted, enabling student members to study at close range the procedure and operation of all types of business.

The national office provides a placement service for all graduating seniors.

This is the first full year's activity of the Engineering Student council, the governing body of the Oklahoma Institute of Technology, since it evolved from the Engineering society. The council is a representative body composed of members elected from each departmental and honorary organization in OIT, the editor of the Oklahoma State Engineer magazine, the engineering senator, the director of student personnel, with the dean of engineering acting as faculty advisor.

Some of the traditional functions of the council are the engineering queen's contest, the St. Pat's ball, the supervision of the OSE magazine and the coordination of the annual Engineering and Science exposition. Other projects started this year are a directory board for the Engineering building and an instructor rating system to be used throughout the institute.

Don Smith was elected vice-president and George Palmer was elected secretary at the beginning of the second semester to replace graduating seniors on the council.

Eta Kappa Nu is an honorary electrical engineering fraternity open to the upper fourth of the junior electrical engineering classes and the upper third of the senior classes. The main purposes of the organization are to promote, maintain, and reward high scholarship by students in the field of electrical engineering. To attain these ends, Omega chapter of Eta Kappa Nu awards a gold medal yearly to the most outstanding electrical engineering senior. An electrical handbook is given as an award to the electrical engineering Sophomore with the highest grade average during his first two school years.

Cooperation between the students and the members of the faculty is encouraged whenever possible. Many members of the electrical engineering faculty are members of Eta Kappa Nu and are urged to attend and to participate in the activities of the chapter.

Omega chapter was given its charter in February of 1930 and has grown steadily in size and importance since its founding. After the reactivation of the chapter in 1946 following the end of the war, Eta Kappa Nu has been active in many and varied engineering activities on the campus. Among these activities is the annual engineering exposition in which members plan and enter various exhibits in the exposition.

The Eta Kappa Nu association was founded at the University of Illinois on Oct. 28, 1904, and now has 46 chapters throughout the United States and has a total membership of 16,000 members. Omega chapter at Oklahoma A. & M. is the 26th chapter given a charter. Eta Kappa Nu alumni chapters are located in the larger cities throughout the United States and are always ready to assist the undergraduates in any way possible.

The highlight of the semester's activities is the pledge courtesy week. All students eligible are given an invitation to the rush smoker to enable the members to meet the prospective pledges. The pledging period consists of the courtesy week, informal and formal initiations.

The strange looking creatures that appear on the campus once a semester are not men from Mars, but merely the Eta Kappa Nu pledges during courtesy week. Such things as double stacked depole antennas, miniature direct current motors and flashing recognition bulbs greet the members on the first morning of courtesy week. Meetings are held twice a day throughout the week during which time the members inform the lowly pledges of the mysterious inner workings of an electrical engineer.

The courtesy week is climaxed by the informal initiation on Saturday night of the courtesy week. The following week, the formal initiation is held, and the pledges are then full-fledged members.

Firemen must live together in order to learn close cooperation. Realizing this, the late Chief J. Ray Pence organized the first Firemen's club in 1939, an organization composed of all members of the Stillwater and Veterans Village fire departments.

As part of their college work, members receive fire protection training and answer all fire alarms and emergency calls. They study and sleep in the fire stations and eat in the dining hall operated by the club at number two fire station.

There are three stations operating under the training program. The first is located at East Ninth and Lewis streets. The college station, located on the corner of College avenue and Knoblock street, serves as headquarters for the municipal department and is considered one of the finest stations in the state. The Veterans Village fire station is the most recent addition to the Firemen's club residences.

Before becoming a member of the club, each rookie must complete a traditional "hell week," designed to familiarize him with the fire fighting equipment. Chief Everett Hudiburg and R. J. Douglas are advisors for the group.

The Flying Aggies, organized in the fall of 1948, define clearly that the purpose of their club is that of encouraging student and faculty interest in aviation, to provide safe, economical flying and transportation for its members and to advance the knowledge of the members in aviational subjects.

In the spring of 1949 the club participated in competition flying with other schools, chief of which was OU. A second and third feather was added in the cap of the Flying Aggies in the fall of '49 when they were selected third place winners in the division of originality during the annual homecoming float parade, and then invited to fly en masse to Wichita, Kan., and make a tour through the Cessna aircraft factory there.

The club sponsors sunrise breakfasts followed by flights to surrounding cities, several parties during the year, plus competition meets with other schools as well as intraclub meets. Any student or faculty member with a private license or better is eligible to join the club after meeting certain requirements.

GIRLS BAND

A relatively new and cotorful organization on the Okahoma A. & M. College campus is the 50-piece all-girl marching band, directed by Hiram Henry. Organized in 1946, the band plays at all football games and is considered to be one of the best all-girl college bands in the nation. The band has its own majorette section of 6 girls.

OFFICERS

JOAN HULL President MARILYN STOOKEY Vice-President MARY LOU RECTOR Secretary-Treasurer The Girls' band is in its third year on the campus and is one of the most colorful organizations of its kind in the country. It is one of the few all-girl college bands, and none has finer equipment and uniforms for their organization. The uniforms of the organization are in the traditional school colors of orange and black.

The band performs at all home football games in the fall and at other athletic events and campus programs during the year. During the second semester it is a concert group. The organization consists of approximately 50 girls, including the twirlers and the majorette.

The main purpose of this organization is to give every girl enrolled in college an opportunity to continue playing the instrument that she played in her high school band. The only requirements for joining the group are that the applicant has had experience with an instrument or band in high school, and a desire to take an active part in the group while on the campus. Hiram Henry of the music department is director of the group.

The glee club offers an opportunity for girls who are talented and like to sing just for the fun of it. They can find much enjoyment also from working toward finished productions.

Some of the glee club activities included "Pecos Bill," a western program, in conjunction with the Terpsichorean Dance club and the speech department; a picnic and caroling with the Men's Glee club, and participation in statewide High School Choral festival.

Activities for spring were a spring concert using scenes from "Carmen," and a tour to Cordell and vicinity.

With the capable leadership of the director, the glee club has tripled its membership and activity in the last two years. It is the hope of the organization to increase in number and in quality.

Hell Hounds, the only national pep order on the A. & M. campus, received its charter from Pi Epsilon Pi in January, 1927. Since its founding the Hell Hounds have been active in fostering organized pep at all athletic events and sponsoring pep rallies.

Membership in Hell Hounds is open to all regularly enrolled men at A. & M. with a two-point average and who have a desire to promote pep and enthusiasm for all Aggie teams. This latter qualification is most important, for it is these qualities upon which the organization is founded. Every semester, a rush smoker is held and prospective "pups" are entertained and the purposes and ideals of Pi Epsilon Pi are made known to them.

During the week preceding homecoming, the Hell Hounds "pups" are required to wear a dog collar, a soup bone, and a wooden paddle made to resemble a bone. Early morning gatherings at Theta pond to practice Aggie yells and evenings spent building the Hell Hounds' float entry are other requirements of the week.

This year the organization carried out one of the old customs by attending away-from-home athletic events in a body. A bus was chartered, and a large portion of the members attended the Wichita-Aggie basketball game in Wichita.

Meetings are held regularly in Morrill hall every two weeks at which time social functions and trips are planned. The Hell Hounds also elect a cheerleader to represent the organization on the Varsity cheering squad. This year's Hell Hound member on the squad was Benny Harrison, who did a bang-up job.

The distinctive orange jackets of the Hell Hounds has been the official insignia of the order since 1931. When a "pup" becomes a member he is required to purchase a jacket which the graduating members sell to him and he in turn sells it when he leaves school. This way, cost of membership in Hell Hounds is kept at a minimum.

In order to achieve an ultimate of enthusiasm for athletic events, half-time stunts, organized cheering, and yell contests with cash prizes have been sponsored by Hell Hounds. The Atom Bomb yell is the result of one of these contests.

Officers that served during the past year were Earl Casner, president; Jack Seay, secretary; Gene Arwood, treasurer; and Don Romans, social chairman. Vestal Vaughn served as vice-president and pledge master and did a nice job of preparing around 60 men for member ship in the organization this past school year.

As usual, the skit put on by the "pups" at Brooks for the entertainment of members and the "pup's" redheaded dates was a howling success this year, with every member being thoroughly razzed.

The Hell Hounds will always be found to be boosting for the Aggie athletic teams at home or abroad and their bright orange and black jackets have been the source of confidence to teams playing on an opponent's court or field. Good, clean pep and enthusiasm have helped to win many a sorely contested game, and the Hell Hounds are proud of the important part that they have played in supporting the OKlahoma A. & M. Cowboys in their successful years on the field and court.

The Home Economics club of Oklahoma A. & M. College was organized in the fall of 1913 by the 28 home economics majors of the class of 1915. The growth and development of the Division of Home Economics through the years has been accompanied by an increasing membership in the Home Economics club.

During the year 1949-50, the 150 members of the club participated in many interesting activities and advanced the general welfare of home economics students on this campus.

The objects of the Home Economics club are to participate actively in improving personal, home and campus living; to experience real achievement on the part of all members; to participate in cooperative planning and group activities; to promote fellowship among college students; to develop leadership ability; to participate in enjoyable recreational activities; to do life's work, however humble, with dignity and respect; to promote better student-faculty relationships, and to be able to establish and enjoy an all-round college life.

Led by an executive cabinet composed of the officers, committee chairmen and faculty advisors, the club was reorganized this year. The reorganization is an attempt to better provide for the needs of a large and growing membership. Under the new plan of operation, the club is divided into four departmental groups which include home life, home economics education, household arts and household science. Bimonthly meetings of these small groups feature programs that are related to vocational interests. A broader view of home economics is gained by the girls when they meet together once every two months in a general meeting to exchange the viewpoints of each group.

Outstanding activities observed this year included the annual sack supper, the pledging and initiation service, the pie supper and barn dance, the hayride and weiner roast with the Agronomy club, serving as hostesses at the homecoming breakfast for home economics alumni and the senior reception. The Home Ec Career day, which brought outstanding leaders in the field of home economics to the A. & M. campus, is another club activity.

Membership in the club is open to all women regularly enrolled in the Division of Home Economics.

Projects sponsored by the general club included the home economics bazaar and the food concession booth at the Blue Key carnival. The money raised from these functions was contributed to several worthwhile charities.

In addition to the officers and advisors, the cabinet included Joyce Kroutil, program chairman; Lena Trent, publicity chairman; Donna Page and Myra Jane Erickson, membership chairmen; Luree Jones, social chairman, and Joyce Bynum, project chairman.

The club is a member of the College Home Economics clubs of the state of Oklahoma, the Oklahoma Home Economics association and the American Home Economics association.

The Horticulture club was founded in 1916. Its purpose is to promote the social, academic and professional interests of its members, and to bring about a closer association among those in horticulture work and to create a good relationship between faculty and students.

Membership is made up of upperclassmen who are majoring in horticulture and underclassmen who are interested in horticulture work.

The activities of the club consist of presenting the annual Horticulture show, and beginning this year, the holding of a banquet at which alumni and present members get together. At this event, outstanding men in the professional field of horticulture are recognized for their contributions to the industry.

The club sponsors freshman-sophomore judging contests in the fall and the FFA intercollegiate judging contest in the spring. It also assists the horticulture department in holding its annual garden club short course held in the spring. It also sponsors a national judging team.

The purpose of the club is to promote international understanding and harmony. This is accomplished partly by becoming personally acquainted with the international students at A. & M., and partly through programs designed to focus attention on current international questions.

At present, the A. & M. club is represented in the American Association of IRC by Louis Hill, national president, and Helen Jayne Randolph, national corresponding secretary. During the last year, the local club also sponsored IRC's in high schools over the state with a great deal of success.

The speakers' bureau has been very active spreading international ideas over Oklahoma and surrounding states by such publications as the News Roundup and the regional IRC newspaper.

The faculty advisors of IRC are Prof. R. R. Oglesby and D. K. Troxel.

NORMAN O'HALLORAN Publicity Director The Junior Hotel Greeters of America of Oklahoma A. & M. have ended their fourth year on the campus.

The purpose of this organization is to better the relationship between hotel management and labor. Enrollment in the School of Hotel and Restaurant Administration is the only requirement for membership in the Greeters. The organization now consists of members from all parts of the country, numbering over 60.

The main point of interest for the fall semester was the Oklahoma Restaurant association convention in Oklahoma City, which was attended by many members of the A. & M. chapter of Greeters.

Because of the increased enrollment in the department of hotel administration and restaurant management, and with the efforts of the Junior Hotel Greeters, the department was made into a separate school in 1948.

The chapter, though only four years old, already is one of the outstanding ones in the United States. Its members, "gentlemen of public hospitality," are learning early in the game what "front personality" means, backed up by detailed training.

Not only must a student possess a high scholastic ranking, but he must possess high qualities of character, personality, and leadership.

Lambda chapter of Kappa Delta Pi was established at Oklahoma A. & M. College on April 16, 1921. It selects its membership from the junior, senior, and graduate classes who rank in the highest 25 per cent in scholarship. The total previous collegiate record of the student is taken into account. EVELYN HOWARD Program Chairman Kappa Phi is a national organization for Methodist preference women on state college and university campuses. It was founded by Mrs. Gordon B. Thompson, in 1916, at the University of Kansas. Theta chapter on the Oklahoma A. & M. campus was installed in 1920.

Kappa Phi's aim is "Every Methodist woman in the university world today a leader in the church of tomorrow." Kappa Phi offers a fellowship sincere and firm; it meets the need to form closer fellowship among Methodist college girls, to make their work more beneficial and a challenge to others.

The purpose of Kappa Phi is to promote a sisterhood of truth, loyalty and friendship; to develop leadership, give religious training, develop an understanding and appreciation of the Methodist church and promote wholesome social activities. It provides a religious background which leads one into deeper and more enriching service in the church of tomorrow.

Kappa Phi holds pledging services twice a year. Requirements for pledging are simply girls who have Methodist preference. Our pledge directors are Juanita White and Virgilene Marshall.

Row 4: Stephens, Barbara; Castle, Charlene; Dobson, Joanne; Shaw, Louella; Corfman, Bessie; Dressen, Mona; Johnson, Madelon; Moore, Rachel; Goranflo, Rose; Cash, Carolyn; Andrews, Ramona.

The theme for this year's work was: THE CHURCH "Upon this rock I will build my church." Programs were based on your life for your church. "A church is God between four walls." Our motto is "Others," and our slogan, "I'd love to." Our colors, the blue of the sky, the green of the pine and white of purity. Our symbols are "The pink rose, the lighted candle, the pine tree," and our watch words are "truth, confidence, sympathy, loyalty, friendship and purity."

Theta chapter of Kappa Phi has, since its organization, held its regular meetings at 8:00 A. M. Sundays in Trinity Chapel of the First Methodist Church of Stillwater, Oklahoma. Devotions and songs are planned by selected members for each meeting.

Outstanding among our social events this year were the annual Christmas banquet, the Mother's club buffet suppers, early morning breakfasts and occasional teas. To promote a better understanding among related organizations, Kappa Phi and Sigma Theta Epsilon, Methodist men's fraternity, exchanged two programs and participated in a brother-sister hay ride.

Our sponsors for this year were Mrs. Edna B. Lewis, Mrs. W. McFerrin Stowe, Mrs. Clark A. Dunn, and Mr. Allen Lamar Cooper. Along with our adult sponsors we have an organized Mother's club that assists in our meetings and social events.

Theta chapter of Kappa Phi was one of two chapters which won a national award for efficiency this past year.

Kappa Phi was the answer to a challenge. That challenge, too full of portent and significance to be refused, lay before the Methodist church at Lawrence, when 300 young Methodist women gathered on the campus of the University of Kansas with a need for emphasis and incentive in the matter of church affiliation. There was a need for comradeship not to end with college days but to continue in deeper and richer relations in the church of tomorrow. It was to meet this local need that Kappa Phi was organized.

The officers for this year include: Betty Lou Erickson, president; Juanita White, vice-president; Almeda Klemme, secretary; Naomi Walton, treasurer, and Evelyn Howard, program chairman.

The Men's Glee Club, under the direction of L. N. Perkins, presented its sixteenth program on January 19 in the College Auditorium. The concert included Oklahoma, The Lord's Prayer, Deep River, You'll Never Walk Alone, and Dark Eyes.

Soloists in the concert were John Babbitt, tenor, and Helen Howard, marimba soloist. Also featured on the program were the Aggie sweethearts, a male quartet chosen from the entire group, an accordian, guitar and string bass trio, and a dance presented by Clark Doan and Mary Ella Barnett.

The 60-voice group has appeared on programs in nearly every section of the state. Radio broadcasts, recording sessions and several tours were included in the year's activities.

Because the size of the group is limited, the Men's Glee club membership is composed of men students with musical talent selected and proved by tryouts. Accompanist for the group is Mary Jo Carrier.

Wearers of the Mortar Board pin on 82 college campuses throughout the country have reached the highest status attainable to a senior woman. Basing membership on scholarship, leadership and service and on completion of five-eighths of the college curriculum, Mortar Board "taps" worthy girls from the junior class to carry on its ideals for the coming year. This highly-anticipated event occurs during the spring semester.

First organized on the campus as Achafoa in 1930, the local chapter was granted membership into the national senior women's honor society Nov. 16, 1940, after a dream of 10 years. Mortar Board strives to promote college loyalty and service, to encourage leadership, to maintain a high standard of scholarship and to stimulate the development of a finer college woman.

Honoring high scholarship in freshman and sophomore classes, Mortar Board sponsors Orange Quill and Orange and Black Quill. It also has, as other activities, the making and selling of vegetable corsages for the Sadie Hawkins dance, the supervision of the AWS spring elections and the AWS spring tea.

Realizing the need for a new pep organization because of the vast postwar enrollment at Oklahoma A. & M., 16 men students met in the lounge of Cordell hall on October 1, 1946, and made the first plans for a new men's pep organization. These were the charter members of an organization soon to be recognized on the A. & M. campus as a truly "peppy" group.

At the meeting a proposed draft of a constitution was introduced, and after a few revisions was accepted as a basis for promoting and fostering the purpose of this organization. At this meeting it was decided to make the organization a really independent one by starting a new fraternity without affiliations with a national group. The chosen name, Mustangs, was selected for its appropriateness with the traditional name—Cowboys.

The charter for the organization was granted by the student senate on October 7, 1946.

Membership in Mustangs is only limited to men students in good standing, which reflects its democratic spirit. Prospective Mustangs are selected for membership on the basis of their being an asset to the organization.

Two pledging services are held during the school year. During Mustang "hell week" pledges appear dressed in coveralls worn backwards with a horse collar on their shoulders and laundry bags containing various items. Among other features of "hell week" is the "beauty contest" held on the campus corner.

To the surprise of some, the Mustangs very successfully created an enthusiastic pep club and disposed of the traditional "hazing" of the pledges by members during pledge week.

The pep club acquired a large bell shortly after the club was organized which is fast becoming a tradition at football games.

The Mustangs sponsor pep rallies throughout the year, and participate in other pep functions. In this way the organization follows its purpose in furthering the "Aggie spirit."

Woody Woodward was elected to the position of cheer leader with the varsity cheer leaders. The president of Mustangs is the representative to the college Pep Council.

In keeping with pep club traditions, the Mustangs chartered buses and a number of the members attended out-of-town football games, and the All-college tournament in Oklahoma City.

The athletic black jacket trimmed in flaming orange, with the words "Oklahoma Aggies" and "Mustangs" across the back and an orange horse on the front of the jacket was chosen because the group felt the need for a new and different jacket. They chose the athletic type of jacket since they attend all athletic events.

Membership has increased to one of large number and is growing steadily. Mustangs have become very active in intramural sports and have placed teams in practically all of the events.

Officers for the year were Woody Woodward, president; Dale Murphy, vice-president; Don Hawes, secretary; Ralston Daily, treasurer; James Zigglefoose, pledge master, and Woody Woodward, cheerleader.

Mu Kappa Tau, national professional marketing fraternity in the Division of Commerce, was established on the Oklahoma A. & M. campus in 1939. In May of 1949, the organization was incorporated under the laws of the state of Oklahoma as the first national marketing fraternity in American colleges and universities.

Membership in Mu Kappa Tau is open to those students seeking a major or minor in the field of marketing. The purposes of the fraternity are to promote a clearer understanding of marketing and to provide professional contact between the student and experts in this field. Various programs, which include talks by prominent businessmen in the state, are presented at the regular meetings during the year. The highlights of the social program are the two banquets held each year at which time members and guests of Mu Kappa Tau are addressed by an outstanding marketing authority.

The expansion program of the fraternity is designed to meet the needs of other marketing students and has met with favorable consideration in a number of midwestern universities.

The Newman club, a national organization of Catholic college students, was founded on the Oklahoma A. & M. College campus March 17, 1932. All Catholic students and all Catholic preference students are eligible for membership.

The purpose of this group is to encourage cooperative religious activities of Catholic college students and to promote group social life among its members.

Organized in 1893 and named for Cardinal John Henry Newman, the club movement in state colleges and universities, of which the National Newman club is a part, has completed the first half-century of its existence. The name of Newman was chosen to honor the English cardinal because of his belief that high spiritual ideals were needed in university students.

Once each month the members receive communion as a group and then attend a breakfast and business meeting in the parish hall. Social events are held each month and social hours are held each Sunday evening in the parish hall. Picnics, hayrides and informal dances comprise the main events on the club's social calendar.

Omicron Nu is a national honor society for home economics students. It was founded at Michigan State college in 1912 and now has 34 active chapters in the nation. Xi chapter was installed on the Oklahoma A. & M. campus in 1920.

The purpose of Omicron Nu is to recognize and promote scholarship, leadership and research in the field of home economics. To qualify for membership in Omicron Nu, a student must be a junior or senior in the School of Home Economics, and show evidence of scholarship and potential leadership.

The program of the year gave special emphasis to education abroad through reports of exchange students and to the research programs on the A. & M. campus. Outstanding activities of the year were fall and spring initiation, and a scholarship award to the freshman girl with the highest scholastic average. Omicron Nu members act as hostesses at school and divisional activities such as Homecoming day, Career day, and the home economics style show.

Omicron Nu is sponsored by Miss Empo Henry, instructor in household arts.

New candidates for membership are selected each fall and spring from among the shorthand students who have won distinction in scholarship, leadership and secretarial subjects. Requirements for membership are sophomore standing, a grade point average in all college subjects of 2.5, a grade point average of 3. in secretarial administration 223, and an over-all of 3. in the department of secretarial administration.

In the spring of 1948 the state chapter of the Oklahoma Society of Professional Engineers decided that it would be beneficial to give the student engineer an opportunity to familiarize himself with the duties, obligations and privileges of his profession; to give the student a line of communication to the practicing engineer on a professional level, in order that the student can get a picture of his future and ask questions about it. From this decision made by the state chapter arose the Alpha student chapter here at the Oklahoma Institute of Technology, the first student chapter in the state.

Any student who is regularly enrolled in an engineering curriculum here at the institute is eligible for membership. The chapter meetings permit the organization's business to be transacted, notable guest speakers to impart their knowledge to the membership, and then everyone may enjoy refreshments. Steps are being taken to allow semi-monthly meetings instead of the present monthly gatherings, which seem to be inadequate.

The chapter has, for the last two years, administered the printing of the Personnel Data sheets for graduating engineers. These data sheets are a condensed history of the individual containing his photograph; his high school, college and working experience; and other personal information. They are published once a year in September, and in the past have been given very favorable recognition by men from industry who use them in hiring the products of the institute.

Another activity is that of cooperating with the district chapter in organizing displays used during the statewide Engineers Week in the month of March. These displays are placed in the store windows in the business district of the four larger towns in this district. Their purpose is to acquaint the public with the professional engineer, what he does and how it affects them in everyday life.

The professional engineer is now, more than ever before, becoming conscious of the need of his association within the social, political, religious and educational organizations of his community. It is clearly seen that this is basic to his being a professional man. Vital factors such as this are brought to the minds of the student engineer through this student chapter.

The organization also attempts to outline the channels to follow after graduation in order that the graduate may become registered. An "Engineer-in-training" status has been set up by the state board which will allow the graduate engineer to take a test of basic engineering knowledge before getting the required number of years of experience that he needs for registration. The student chapter is taking steps to try and have this test given to the graduating engineers before they leave school. This would be very beneficial to those graduating.

The student chapter is relatively young and its active membership will grow as the student engineer realizes the broad horizons available to him from belonging to the Oklahoma Society of Professional Engineers.

JANIBETH HASKIN Treasurer Peppers was organized in 1921 and holds the honor of having been the first girls' pep club on the Oklahoma A. & M. campus. Since its beginning, Peppers has been active in maintaining school spirit and bringing pep to various athletic events on the campus.

Activity has keynoted Peppers throughout this school year. The club was joint-sponsor of pep rallies preceding several of the football games. Plans have been made to secure new uniforms for the fall semester of the next year. The club's constitution has been revised in order that Peppers may function more effectively.

Regular elections are held each year to elect the officers who will take charge of the organization for the year. There is no requirement for joining the group except a desire to help promote pep and spirit on the Oklahoma A. & M. campus.

Membership in Peppers is determined by each sorority, each group having a maximum of 12 Pepper members.

Each year the members of Peppers elect a cheerleader from their group who will join the other cheerleaders in leading the cheers of the student body at athletic events throughout the year.

The Petroleum club was formed in the fall semester of 1948 by members with petroleum options in mechanical engineering, geology and tech school.

The club's object is to increase the self-sought knowledge of the members along lines of thought peculiar to the petroleum industry. The club is an affiliate of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical engineers and each year elects an industrial advisor who is some prominent Oklahoman in the petroleum industry. Last year, J. Yarborough, of George E. Failing company, was the electee. The present advisor is C. V. Millikan, of Amerada Petroleum company. The past faculty advisor was Prof. R. L. Six of the geology department. A. E. Schlemmer, of the mechanical engineering school, is the present advisor.

The meetings are held monthly and programs consist of speakers of authority in a particular branch of the petroleum industry, or movies of general technical interest.

Two field trips were sponsored by the club in 1949. One was a trip to the Carter Oil company's holdings at Lindsay, and the other was to the G. E. Failing plant at Enid.

Organized at Oklahoma A. & M. College in the fall of 1944, the local chapter of Phi Chi Delta, national Presbyterian sorority, has been active in religious and philanthropic activities since its beginning six years ago.

The purpose of Phi Chi Delta sorority is to promote fellowship and growth in its membership among college women. At present there are nearly 40 members.

The highlight of the Phi Chi Delta year was the annual Christmas banquet. Other activities included the registration tea, the installation of officers, senior dedication and communion in the church sanctuary in cooperation with the pastor and church deacons.

Green and Gold pledge ribbons were pinned on pledges both in October and February. At the white rose dinner initiation, the ribbons were exchanged for pins which are trapezoid-shaped set in pearls and emeralds. On a black enamel background is the Maltese cross and the Greek letters of the sorority.

Of all honor societies existing in this nation today, there are only seven older than Phi Lambda Upsilon. The present membership totals approximately 18,000 and there are 40 active chapters.

Alpha Delta chapter was installed on the A. & M. campus in 1929. Those, eligible for membership are juniors, seniors and graduate students majoring in chemistry, chemical engineering or some applied chemical field and who have maintained a high scholastic grade average.

Chapter activities consist of business and dinner meetings, educational programs which feature speakers and occasional social events.

"A trained mind, a healthy body, and a high character" . . . these words are well-known to the members of Phi Eta Sigma, national honorary scholastic fraternity for freshman men. Phi Eta Sigma was founded in order to encourage and to recognize high scholastic attainment among the men of the freshman class. The fundamental idea behind this fraternity is that if recognition of ability and conscientious work is not shown until the junior and senior years the purpose of such recognition is lost to a great extent. Phi Eta Sigma believes that early recognition of scholastic application is a stimulus to even greater endeavor in the following years.

These were the things which Dean Thomas Arkle Clark had in mind when he founded the first chapter of Phi Eta Sigma on the campus of the University of Illinois almost thirty years ago. From this beginning, Phi Eta Sigma has now grown to a national organization of some 60 chapters in all major universities and colleges in the country. In 1937 the organization was admitted to membership in the Association of College Honor Societies.

The Oklahoma A. & M. chapter of Phi Eta Sigma was the 28th chapter of the fraternity and was installed on the campus February 19, 1931. Under the faithful and beloved leadership of Dean Clarence H. McElroy, the local chapter has grown and prospered since that time to become a major campus organization. Approximately 800 men have been initiated into Phi Eta Sigma since 1931. At the present time, more than 125 wear the golden key of Phi Eta Sigma on the Aggie campus.

Eligibility for membership in Phi Eta Sigma is based solely on scholarship. All freshman men who have achieved a grade point average of 3.5 during their first semester or year attending A. & M. shall be eligible for election to the society. The membership is not limited in number. Phi Eta Sigma honors two groups of pledges every year. One group is pledged in the fall, another in the spring. Highlights of the pledging are a get-acquainted smoker; an official pledge week when pledges may be seen wearing horned rim spectacles, mortar boards, and a wooden replica of the key; and a formal initiation and banquet to climax the week of fellowship and fun.

The activities of Phi Eta Sigma are varied in nature and are directed both toward promoting high scholarship in the freshman class and promoting other worthwhile enterprises on the campus. Phi Eta Eigma sponsors a tutorial service available to all students on the campus and also takes the responsibility of distributing to all freshmen the pamphlet, "Hints on How to Study."

During the year, Phi Eta Sigma for the fourth time ushered and ran concessions at the annual junior-senior prom. Phi Eta Sigma is also one of the six participating organizations in the Student Memorial loan fund committee.

The chief social event of the organization is the traditional steak fry held every May after the election of officers for the coming year. This year for the first time, a fall picnic was also held.

Phi Sigma is a national honorary biological fraternity established to promote research and further interests in biological science. The national chapter was established on the Ohio State University campus in 1915, recognizing the benefits which would be derived by students working in the biological sciences from an organization acting as a stimulus to research and affording an opportunity for free discussion.

Phi Sigma selects undergraduate students who have completed as much as four semesters of college work and graduate students who are interested in research in the biological sciences. Scholarship, leadership and biological interests are the major points of consideration.

The local chapter, Alpha Eta, was established on the campus January 25, 1930. The chapter was inactive from June, 1942, until the spring semester of 1947.

Each year Phi Sigma offers an award to the outstanding undergraduate student and graduate student in biology. The awards are presented at the honors convocation.

Pi Epsilon Alpha, interdenominational religious sorority, was founded at A. & M. College in the spring of 1925 through the efforts of a group of young women at the South Methodist church. Pi Epsilon Alpha became interdenominational in 1940.

The purpose of the sorority, to develop Christian leadership, is exercised this year in a study of Biblical history. The devotional theme is centered around the love chapters of the Bible. The programs on this theme were presented by guest speakers and individual members. In this way, members develop qualities needed for speakers and leaders.

Although the society attempts to meet the present and future needs of the girls through religious development, the social needs are not overlooked. The social side of the organization consists of several parties and teas. The highlight of the year is the formal Dixie banquet.

The sorority mother of Pi Epsilon Alpha is Mrs. C. A. Melton.

EDWARD H. BLAKESTEAD Treasurer Pi Tau Sigma, national honorary mechanical engineering fraternity, was founded at the University of Illinois in 1915. Forty-one chapters have since been established on the campuses of the leading colleges, universities and technical schools of the United States. Oklahoma A. & M. Lambda chapter was installed in the spring of 1931 and has since been one of the most active in the fraternity.

The fraternity's object is to foster the high ideals of the engineering profession and to stimulate interest in co-ordinate departmental activities.

To qualify scholastically for membership in the fraternity a student must be enrolled in the School of Mechanical Engineering and rank in the upper third of the senior class or the upper fourth of the junior class. He must also possess the qualities of leadership, personality, trustworthiness, industry, dependability and probable success in the field of mechanical engineering.

Many members of the mechanical engineering faculty are graduate or honorary members of the fraternity. Honorary members are elected to the fraternity each year. These members, distinguished in the field of mechanical engineering neering, are chosen from industry as well as from the mechanical engineering faculty.

Lambda chapter promotes many activities throughout the school year. These include high school senior orientation in many of the state's high schools, engineering freshmen orientation, and instructor rating sheets. It cooperates with other student societies and the Institute of Technology in presenting exhibits at the annual engineering exposition. To promote and encourage high scholastic achievements among the under classmen, an award is given each year to the junior mechanical engineering student who, in his first two years in college, has made the highest scholastic average.

Field trips are conducted in the state. Dinner meetings are held bi-weekly featuring guest speakers and social functions are held throughout the year. A delegation of members including the faculty advisor and the chapter president attended the fraternity's annual national convention held at Lehigh University the past fall.

Pledging is conducted twice each year. The chapter has adopted and continues to require pledges to carry a special emblem during pledge week. The emblem consists of a wooden spur gear and Carnot cycle upon which the letters Pi Tau Sigma are emblazoned in gold.

Another feature of the pledge week is the dinner given by the pledges for the members at the conclusion of pledge week. All pledges wear the traditional green shirt, green cap and white tie, and are required to carry all the equipment and tools needed to keep their wooden wheel in good operating condition. Pledge week is followed by the chapter's formal initiation of the new members.

Officers elected for the spring semester were: John Lillibridge, president; Don Luttrell, vice-president; James Blackburn, recording secretary; James Palm, corresponding secretary; Edward Blakestead, treasurer; Thomas Wilson, guide; Don Crews, engineering student council representative, and L. Growth in size, capable leadership and increasing enthusiasm have made Punchers pep club climb rapidly in popularity and recognition since its founding in the spring of 1948. With a goal of fellowship and Aggie spirit, the club seeks to accomplish its duties as a pep organization with a purpose.

Membership in Punchers is open to both fraternity and independent men who desire to become active members. During pledge week, the pledges are walking replicas of the traditional A. & M. cowboy insignia with his chaps, 10-gallon hat, boots, neckerchief, guns and bright shirt. Pledge week is held once each semester.

The club jackets are black with orange cowboys on the back, along with the club name. The neck and cuffs are of orange, carrying out the school colors.

The pep club supports all local games in which Aggie athletes participate, enter into all homecoming activities and assist with campus pep rallies.

Punchers is the youngest member of the four pep clubs at A. & M. for men, but has taken a leading role at sports events because of its spirit and enthusiasm.

This great pep club was founded when it became evident that a men's pep organization was needed to lead the students in demonstrating their appreciation for our Aggie teams and their fighting spirit.

Dean C. H. McElroy and Prof. J. H. Caldwell, two charter members, were instrumental in the establishment of the order. Today, the organization strives to better itself in the fulfillment of its primary purpose, boosting the Aggie spirit for all athletic events at home and away.

The principal functions are to instill a higher degree of the "will to win" into our teams and to work with other pep clubs for the purpose of closer cooperation between the students in cheering the teams to victory.

nity and non-fraternity men. To fulfill the requirements for pledging the neophyte must be a second semester freshman, he must be a staunch Aggie fan and rooter, and he must be a man of unquestionable character.

The order makes two bids each year to the sturdy men of the campus. Pledging and initiation follow each bidding. Some criticism has been made about pledging and initiation ceremonies at the club, but this always comes from without the group. Never has there been anything but praise from new members.

The rope of the Ruf-Nex has become a badge of honor to be worn with pride by those accorded the honor of a bid to the organization. The custume of the "well-dressed" scurve consists of tattered trousers, straw hat, cow bell, plenty of chewin' tobaccer, and a man's growth of whiskers.

"Hell Week" consists of probing into the character, temperament and personality of the scurve. During the seven days of pledging, active members learn a great deal about human nature from the scurves and, strange as it may seem, scurves formulate ideas on the earthy makeup of man. Both survive the pledging with a more thorough knowledge of their fellow-being and list it among the highlights in their lives.

Usually, the Ruf-Nex attend two out-of-town college events at the expense of the organization. A bus is chartered for the A. & M.-Tulsa football game which is considered the traditional trip of the organization. The other trip abroad is usually the A. & M.-OU football game. Although countless wagers are made on the Aggie-Tulsa game each year, none can compare with the one made by the president of this club with the prexy of the Tulsa "Windbags." The heads of these organizations bet their hair on the outcome of the game. The Aggies have enough hair to stuff a mattress.

In short, the Ruf-Nex have fulfilled entirely their twofold purpose of fostering pep and enthusiasm and of gathering into one body the real "He-Men" of the Aggie campus.

Through the efforts of Sam West and Charles Fair, the Prospectors club, the local geological fraternity, petitioned Sigma Gamma Epsilon for membership. Upon acceptance, West, who was president of the Prospectors club, served as the first president of the newly chartered organization.

Membership in Sigma Gamma Epsilon, which is the national honorary geological fraternity, is limited to students with above average grades who are majoring in the earth sciences.

Sigma Gamma Epsilon was founded at Kansas university in 1915 and now has more than 35 chapters throughout the country, many of which have contributed very important personages to the field of geology.

The purpose of Sigma Gamma Epsilon is to stimulate interest in geologic work and to promote better fellowship among the geology students. These aims are fulfilled by the appearances of guest speakers from both the fields of industry and education and by frequent social activities.

Sigma Tau, national honorary engineering fraternity, was founded at the University of Nebraska in 1904, and was the first honor society to be admitted to full membership in the Association of College Honor Societies. Sigma chapter was installed at Oklahoma A. & M. in 1923, and includes students in all branches of engineering and architecture. In its membership are men who hold important offices in other organizations on the campus and who have not sacrificed scholarship in carrying out official duties.

Each semester students who rank in the upper third of the junior and senior classes are selected for membership in Sigma Tau on the basis of scholarship, sociability and practicality. These requirements were chosen on the basis that, aside from good health, the three qualities considered by employers as the most necessary to a successful engineer are first, character; second, judgment, and third, technical training.

Before being admitted to full membership, these men must participate in the Sigma Tau courtesy week, a period to enable the pledges to become acquainted with one another and with the members. During this time the pledges don the symbols of the fraternity, the pyramid and rail section symbolizing those things that an engineer should strive to attain—stability in his projects and progress in his work, and render praise to Saint Patrick, the patron saint of the engineers.

The aims of Sigma Tau are to further engineering education by encouraging the students to greater effort and to promote fellowship among the men training for the engineering profession.

The officers serving Sigma Tau for this past year have been Warren Hall, president; W. D. Manahan, vice-president; Bill Leighty, recording secretary; Bill Byler, corresponding secretary; Jesse Salisbury, treasurer, and Vern Smith, historian.

Dinner meetings are held bi-weekly, and social functions are sponsored throughout the year, such as the Christmas party and the annual dinner-dance during the spring semester. Sigma Tau annually presents an award to the outstanding engineering freshman and to the department presenting the most effective display during the Engineering and Science Exposition, which is held each spring and attracts thousands of engineers throughout the entire southwest.

Twenty-six chapters of Sigma Tau are now installed at leading engineering schools throughout the United States. Many faculty members are honorary and alumni members of Sigma Tau. The stability of the organization is illustrated by this fact and that it has become one of the most progressive of the national honorary fraternities in the field of engineering.

Sigma Tau has endeavored in the past year, as every year, to bring the faculty and the students closer together and to train the student engineer in the three aspects of scholarship, sociability and practicality so that he may take his place in making the world a better place to live in through the field of engineering.

Nu chapter of Sigma Theta Epsilon, national religious fraternity for college men of Methodist preference, was installed at Oklahoma A. & M. College in the spring of 1940.

Sigma Theta Epsilon resulted from the merger of Phi Tau Theta, founded at the University of Nebraska in 1925, and Sigma Epsilon Theta, founded at the University of Indiana in 1936. The union of these two groups was accomplished in Cedar Falls, Iowa, Nov. 30, 1941, shortly after the unification of Methodism.

The purposes of Sigma Theta Epsilon are to create Christian fellowship, develop leadership, offer religious training, develop an understanding of the Methodist church and promote wholesome social activities.

Members of the advisory council are Dr. Leroy Fisher, the Rev. W. McFerrin Stowe and the Rev. Allen Lamar Cooper.

Membership is open to all men interested in fostering the aims of Methodism. Since its organization 10 years ago, Nu chapter of Sigma Theta Epsilon has grown steadily and today consists of 76 members.

Technique, style and social customs are emphasized as well as the learning of a variety of steps for the different social dance rhythms. Fox-trot, jitterbug and waltz were taught the beginning group this year. The advanced group was taught to rhumba, tango, and samba.

The purpose of the club is to give the students interested in becoming proficient in the various types of social dance an opportunity to help the sponsor plan the program for the year, decide on the type dances taught, help in selecting suitable dance records, and in various other ways promote the interests of the group.

Initially formed as a technical society of motor vehicle engineers, SAE now includes men in every field of self-propelled vehicle. Thus it covers diesel engines, aircraft, farm machinery, fuels and lubricants, and production, operation and design problems in these fields. SAE is operated and financed by its members, who join the society as individuals and not as representatives of the companies they work for. Engineering college students take part in the organized technical activity through SAE student branches.

The Oklahoma A. & M. student branch of the Society of Automotive Engineers is at present one of the largest professional societies in the Oklahoma Institute of Technology. The principal means for accomplishing the activities of the student branch are the holding of semi-monthly meetings which further acquaintances and good fellowship among students and professional men and feature technical films, discussions, and lectures by practicing engineers. There is also participation in national, sectional and intercollegiate meetings of the society and several field trips are taken each year. In October of this year, the student branch was honored by being host to the midcontinent section, which held one of its regular meetings at A. & M.

The mass production of the American automobile, that world phenomenon, is greatly indebted to the activities of the Society of Automotive Engineers. Two great formal contributions have been made. The first is a steady flow of technical papers, digested monthly in the SAE Journal, with the most important treatises being published, in full, in the SAE Quarterly Transactions. These publications, crucial in the automotive world, will be found in every lively technical department in Europe as well as in the United States. The SAE's second invaluable work has been the standardization of parts and procedures without which the mass production of automobiles on the American scale would have been impossible.

The yearly SAE handbook sets forth standards and recommended practices on more than a thousand different classes of items. Acceptance of these standards is entirely optional in industry. But their values are so obvious that they are almost universally used.

SAE also serves industry through special technical committees, set up for specific research projects on manufacturing processes, materials, and design problems.

When SAE was born in 1905, there were no "automotive engineers." Early members were mechanics, inventors, and technicians from other branches of engineering. From 30 original members, SAE's ranks have grown to almost 16,000 today, extending over all 48 states and into many foreign lands. Regular monthly technical meetings are held in 38 U. S. cities. The various industry groups within SAE each hold national meetings annually.

The Spur and Comb club was organized Nov. 30, 1930 by poultry majors and faculty members of the poultry husbandry department, under the supervision of Prof. R. B. Thompson.

Students majoring or planning to major in poultry husbandry are eligible for membership. The purpose of the club is to create an interest in poultry among students in the Division of Agriculture and to carry on such projects as sponsored by the poultry husbandry department that are of interest to students.

The A. & M. poultry judging team participated in the Southern Intercollegiate poultry judging contest at Memphis, Tenn., on March 29, 1949, winning fifth place in competition with judging teams from nine other southern agricultural colleges.

Members of the team were John Hathaway, Jack Chambers, Claude Fite and Alvin Icke. Prof. C. A. Roberts is the coach of the A. & M. poultry judging teams.

SYMPHONIC BAND

One of the oldest and best-liked organizations on the Oklahoma A. & M. College campus is the A. & M. Symphonic band. The group of 100 musicians is under the direction of Prof. Hiram Henry. Since its reorganization following the war, the band has become one of the top marching bands in the southwest.

The symphonic band is one of the oldest organizations on the campus and has been of constant service to the college and the state since 1905. Under the leadership of Bob Makovsky it became one of the finest concert bands in the southwest and since World war II it has been developing into an outstanding marching band for athletic events.

The band played for the Drake, Kansas and Tulsa football games at home and travelled to Norman for the annual OU game. The band also played for rallies, basketball games and wrestling matches.

Concert playing included playing for the choral festival in November, the band clinic in December and formal concerts in March and May. A two-day concert tour was taken in March.

The directors of the symphonic band are Hiram Henry, Willis Olson and Robert Goebert.

The Symphonic Choir, under the direction of Professor Paul T. Klingstedt, is a choral organization which offers to any student on the campus an opportunity to participate in singing the very best type of musical literature. During the past years the choir has enjoyed the study and has presented such masterpieces as Mozart's "Requiem Mass," Handel's "The Messiah," Michael Costa's "Eli," Henry Hadley's "The New Earth," F. H. Cowen's "The Rose Maiden," and Gaul's "The Holy City."

Each year, under the capable leadership of its director, the choir participates in a number of varied activities. At the annual Christmas concert on December 18, 1949, "Sleepers, Wake!" Cantata No. 140 by J. S. Bach, was presented. The symphonic choir also assisted Robert Shaw in conducting a vocal clinic. Other activities included short road tours to neighboring towns and cities and the annual Easter program. The choir also participated in the all-state high school Thanksqiving festival held on the campus, November 21, 1949.

The director, Professor Klingstedt, often refers to the choir as a massive organ over which he wishes to play and produce the melodious tone characteristic of a great organ.

Professor Klingstedt is head of the voice department. He holds a bachelor of music degree from the Chicago Music college, a master of music degree from the American Conservatory of Music, Chicago, and a diploma from the Christiansen Master's choral school.

Klingstedt appeared on the concert stage where he sang for eight years. He also sang with the Arthur Deen quartet of Chicago. He appeared on numerous programs with William Jennings Bryan and Howard Taft, former president.

Klingstedt has spent over 25 years as a singer and teacher of voice. His concert tours have taken him through most of the states and parts of Canada. His book on common sense and voice pedagogue is used by major teachers all over the United States.

Following each practice the choir sings "Now the Day is Over," a hymn which has come to be known as the theme of the group. The unity of beauty of tone and color the group achieves when singing this hymn gives an insight to the accord of choir and director.

The closing of the spring term means that several members will graduate, but there are two happy occasions to dispel the sadness of losing members: plans are to be made for a new group the following year, and, second, the annual choir picnic.

Officers for the year were Frank Malone, president; Mary Braly, vice-president; Jean Cooper, secretary-treasurer; Norma Earthman, librarian; Mary Braly, accompanist; Melvin Miller and Mary Maude Moore, custodians, and Roger Klein, publicity chairman.

It has assisted in installing eight other chapters on campuses over the nation. Still other colleges are in the process of organizing their band sororities.

Tau Beta Sigma is a sister sorority to Kappa Kappa Psi, honorary fraternity for college bandsmen.

The growing interest of college women in the field of band music encourages a bright outlook for the future of Tau Beta Sigma in its high purpose. Honorary members of the Alpha chapter are Vesta Etchison, Max Mitchell, Dr. Bohumil Makovsky and Mr. and Mrs. A. Frank Martin.

Because of the growing demand for an organization for young college women living off the campus, Tau Gamma was organized at Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College, first as Townettes in the fall of 1939. In the spring of 1941, the present organization was formed and the name Tau Gamma was adapted.

Tau Gamma, Beta chapter, is not a national organization. The purposes of Tau Gamma are to give the members a greater opportunity for participation in student government, to create a spirit of fellowship among the college women living "off-campus" in private homes, and to create leadership among college women.

This year the program of Tau Gamma has consisted of bimonthly social hours and informative business meetings. Social activities included the Christmas party, an informal coffee honoring the presidents of the various organizations on the campus, the annual hay-rack ride, and a pot luck supper.

Tau Gamma has as its motto, "I would be true," and it is through following this motto that the organization fulfills its meaning to the members. The theme for the year is friendship.

TERPSICHOREAN

Pictured above is a scene from the Terpsichorean dance club's production, "Pecos Bill." The group gives an annual spring concert in May and demonstrates modern dance technique to humanities students. The group was also sponsor of a state-wide "Dance Day" in February, which more than 200 dancers and dance instructors attended.

Terpsichorean club is an honorary modern dance club founded in 1927 by Flora May Ellis, director of physical education for women at Oklahoma A. & M.

The purposes of the club are four-fold. The club strives to further the dance as a creative art; to provide dance programs of quality to the various campus organizations and classes requesting them; to further develop the abilities and appreciations of experienced dancers and to introduce dance to the novice as an enjoyable and worthwhile experience.

Terpsichorean dance club takes modern dance music beyond the classroom into the realm of theater art, culminating in the annual spring dance concert. Last year the club, together with the Women's Glee club, launched a new program—a fine arts concert for children.

The group selects its membership from the top members in the physical education's modern dance classes.

The Tech society is a social and professional organization of the School of Technical Training. The purpose of this organization is to further the interests of all students enrolled in technical training in the social aspects pertinent to the fulfillment of the professional and civic responsibilities expected in a well-balanced community. It also encourages recognition of the School of Technical Training by industrial and professional leaders.

The executive board of the Tech society is comprised of the society's officers and one junior and one senior representative elected by each of the 13 departments of technical training. Meetings of the Tech society are held monthly. The executive board meets twice each month. Officers are elected during the last meeting of the spring semester and serve for a term of one year. The group has a junior and senior advisor chosen from the faculty. Advisors during the past year were E. M. Barnes and M. W. Roney.

Tech society members constitute over one-fourth of the students of the School of Technical Training. Being affiliated with the Division of Engineering, the society has one representative on the Engineering Student council and takes part in the engineering activities such as the Engineering exposition, St. Pat's ball and the election of the engineering queen. The society also competes in the annual float contest in the Homecoming parade.

The School of Technical Training was reorganized and expanded in 1945 in order to render a maximum of service by offering training of an advanced technical nature that would equip the graduate to enter technical positions in industry.

The entire facilities of the school were made available for national defense and war production training purposes in August, 1940. All laboratories, classrooms and shops were utilized for training and many operated on a 24-hour basis. Approximately 6,000 persons were trained under the program during the war emergency. In addition new shops were planned and equipment was obtained to increase facilities.

Following its reorganization after the war, the school launched a curriculum that proved to be so popular that enrollment increased from five students in 1945 to 459 students in 1949.

The school is designed to serve the following types of persons: those who cannot devote four years or more to study; those who desire to take specialized training to enter a field of special interest; those who have had industrial training and experience in a field of interest but lack specialized training; or those who possess the aptitude, ability and interest to learn by practical rather than theoretical instruction.

Graduates of the school have been well received by industry and practically all are employed in the field of their choice. Follow-up studies also reveal that these graduates are advancing to positions of responsibility.

Eight of the departments in the school were accredited this year by the Engineers council for professional development.

Since its founding in the spring of 1948, the Varsity Radio club has afforded students interested in the radio field practical experience in the operation of a radio station, writing and producing programs and in building a wired-wireless station to cover the A. & M. campus.

From a small unit, the KVRO campus station has grown to one which boasts largest coverage on any radio station in this region. Its broadcast day is from 5:15 p. m. until midnight Monday through Friday and from 2 p. m. until midnight on weekends. This is the longest broadcast day of any collegiate radio station in the surrounding area.

KVRO brings its listeners a rounded selection of programs, including coverage of sports events. Plans were laid to further activity and coverage and Veterans Village was wired by the station.

KVRO personnel is carefully selected from filings by members of the radio council, the advisory body for the station and club. It is composed of two radio clubmen, two representatives from the student senate and two faculty members.

The Oklahoma A. & M. Student Veterinary society was organized in the spring of 1948 by the students of the first class in veterinary medicine ever presented at Oklahoma A. & M.

The society's organization was aided and counselled by the two professors who were to become its sponsors, Dr. D. M. Trotter and Dr. D. R. Peterson, During the early days, the society was ably led by its first elected president, Sam H. Best, of Wagoner.

Any regularly enrolled student in the School of Veterinary Medicine may become a member of the organization. Members of the faculty or any others the society may agree upon are also eligible for honorary membership.

As outlined in the constitution, the objectives of the organization are five-fold. They are: (1) to promote a spirit of friendly relations among the students regularly enrolled in the School of Veterinary Medicine; (2) to provide an additional opportunity for the members to gain professional knowledge; (3) to demonstrate the virtues of organized effort; (4) to build character through the cen-

The Student Veterinary society is not yet eligible for affiliation with the national student association. However eligibility will be forthcoming during the 1950-51 school year and the organization will apply for membership at that time.

In its efforts to promote and achieve its objects, the society has participated in a well-rounded program not only of a professional nature but also of a social and recreational aspect. In meetings, noted speakers from throughout the state have discussed subjects directly pertinent to the future veterinarian while others have presented illustrated lectures of interesting techniques and problems. Movies of research work, clinical work and husbandry methods have been shown to acquaint the members with the many phases of their future profession.

Other activities in which the society participates are homecoming festivities, having paraded the winning float in the originality division in 1948, and intramural sports, including entries in touch football, basketball, volley ball, swimming and softball. The team won first place in its league in softball in the spring of 1949. In the social vein, the society has an annual Christmas party for all members, wives and children and a picnic in the spring. Throughout the school year, other parties and get-togethers are put on by the society for members, and for members and their families.

The Student Veterinary society works in close cooperation with the School of Veterinary Medicine, which was founded at A. & M. in 1948. More than 90 students are now enrolled in the school and most are actice participants in the society.

Striving to make this the greatest year ever, the Young Men's Christian association began the current school year with a fall cabinet retreat at Camp Redlands, where plans were carefully laid for a program beneficial to all college men, regardless of race, creed or color.

With our sister organization we have carried on active joint YW-YM interest groups in the fields of world relations, Christian faith and heritage, personal and campus affairs, and social responsibilities, in addition to a varied program of all-male programs. Our joint YW-YM mixers have provided a wholesome, Christian social atmosphere about the campus.

As always, the Y-Hut has been actively engaged in the business of student employment directed by T. N. Harris, the student entertainment bureau headed by Fields Hathorne, and of course, the annual publication of the student directory and freshman handbook.

Monday night is YW night for the girls at Oklahoma A. & M. College. Freshman girls have separate orientation meetings in the Prairie Playhouse, while the upperclass club meets in commission groups and general meetings. These meetings are helping fulfill the pledge YW members took when they became members of the world-wide Christian organization.

"We, the members of the Young Women's Christian association of Oklahoma A. & M. College, unite to build a fellowship of women and girls devoted to the task of realizing in our common life those ideals of personal and social living to which we are committed by our faith as Christians. In this endeavor, we seek to understand Jesus, to share His love for all people and to grow in the knowledge and love of God."

The YWCA cabinet was composed of 30 women who served on 11 committees. The committees were publicity, steering, freshman, hospitality, music, membership, social responsibility, world relatedness, personal and campus affairs, and Christian heritage.

The Oklahoma A. & M. Branch College, at Okmulgee, in the heart of Oklahoma's industrial and agricultural economy, established in 1946, offers two divisions of training—"The Tech School," specializing in trade and industrial courses, and the College division, with work paralleling that at the parent college. First set up for veterans, it has opened its four major areas of training—agriculture, intensive business, industrial and foods trades divisions—to others with emphasis on quality work and entry based on aptitude and skill of individuals. As a practical college in the technical field and as a training center for the handicapped it has won national renown. Its practical, concentrated courses, conducted by faculty specialists, are opening doorways for literally hundreds every year . . . seeking education unbound by rigid academic requirements.

The state advisory committee is in charge of the training for handicapped persons. This school has been selected among various state schools to train both veterans and non-veterans who are disabled, along with its regular curriculum. Members of this committee, shown above, are, first row: I. H. Walton, vocational rehabilitation and education division, VA; Voyle Spurlock, director of rehabilitation division; E. O. Fisher, veterans service, all of Oklahoma City; H. S. Ahrens, VFW, Muskogee. Second row: R. L. Dyke, college business manager; R. M. Coleman, college industrial division head; John Stinnett, chief of education and training, VA, Muskogee, Roy Belford, intensive business division head at the college; C. B. Lewis, state accrediting agency; V. Royland, T. P. Chapman, both of the Branch college, and G. B. Willett, senior training officer, VA, Muskogee.

Members of the Branch College Student council, from left to right, are: Harry D. Brownlee, Kingfisher; Howard Hensley, Wichita, Kan.; Raymond L. Jones, Roland; H. L. Ellis, Gertz; John Canfield, Bates, Mo.; R. C. Harris, Okmulgee; Everett J. Thatcher, Wetumka; Riley T. Blair, Okemah; Arthur D. Hogan, Okmulgee; Howard R. Stoops, Tulsa; C. R. Bean, Lincoln, Ark.; B. A. Fowler, Ada; B. L. Staubus, Benton, Ark.; Clifton R. Scarborough, Kannapolis, N. C.; Leon Neff, Oklahoma City.

"The Tech School" offers training from six months to two year periods. The philosophy of this division is to teach basic techniques equipping the individual to enter employment at the earliest possible time, at the same time perfecting him in the field of his choice through practical workshops. High school diplomas are not prerequisites for entry into this newly-created province of service education.

Fine housing facilities are available to both married couples with families and single students. Kitchenette apartments and others with the choice of using the college community kitchen or cafeteria, make living conditions flexible. Picture above shows one of the typical families using one of the many comfortable apartments at Branch college. All quarters are in close proximity to classrooms, laboratories and Below left: Unmarried students find comfortable quarters in spacious dormitories reserved for their use. In a college that is already attaining a registration of some 2,000 each semester, enrollees represent nearly every state in the union.

Balow right: The college is building up an excellent research library of both volumes and periodicals. Registration information may be obtained to writing the Branch College director.

The college cafeteria, operated by trained dietitians and food experts, serves well prepared and tasty meals at a nominal fee. With an excellent selection and well balanced menu, "meal time" at the Branch college is a pleasant meeting period for students. Snack bars for mid-morning, mid-afternoon and between class periods also find great favor here at the "coffee hour."

Housing and concentrated facilities at "BC" make it a favorite crossroads for many short courses, stemming through the parent college. The above picture shows a group in one of the short courses for industrial aditors. Conducted under the auspices of the journalism department at A. & M., these attract leading trade publication editors and personnel from all over the country. Accommodations here serve many other groups at A. & M. in a similar way.

The commercial art department is a highly developed training province and students here are preparing for interesting and well paid careers under outstanding instructors.

Picture shows members enrolled in a course especially set up for the handicapped . . . in diesel fuel injection. Careful attention is given to their individual needs.

Linotype operation, like many other fields, is one of the highly developed courses offered here, in a college of practical training, under concentrated direction that is both rapid and efficient. It is one of the few such courses in this region.

Learn by doing, is the keynote to the practical training given at the Branch College. The furniture renovation and upholstery shops, automobile upholstery and others are typical of a dozen or more such work laboratories on the campus.

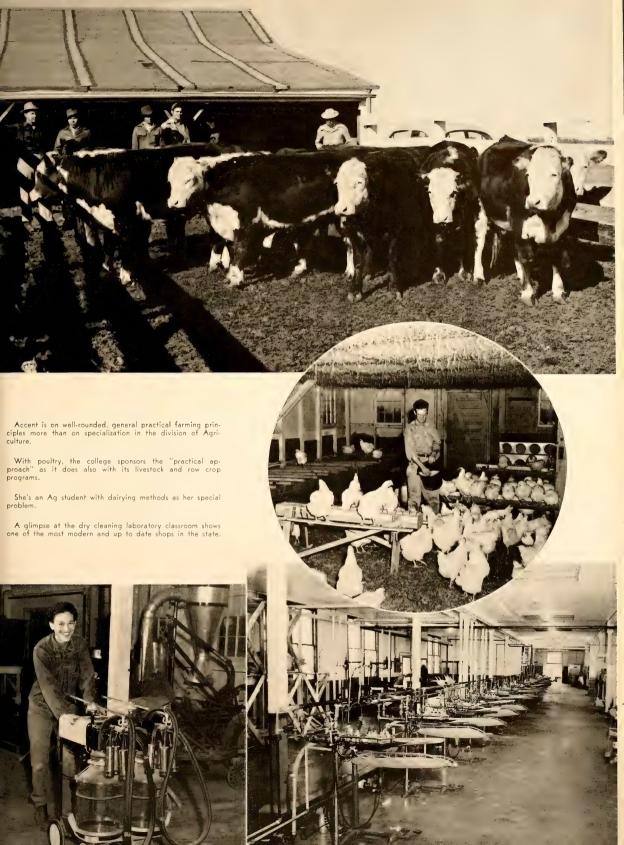

Auto mechanics is one of the largest training fields in the industrial division, that also offers carpentry, drafting, shoe rebuilding, radio, plumbing, electrical maintenance among many other choices.

Baking, under the foods and trades division, is truly an "opportunity field" at the college and has attained a national reputation. It is opening broad, new business avenues for graduates who are mastering this course.

YOU HAVE TO Land THEM

BEFORE YOU CAN FRY THEM

Yes, there can be many a slip from the "strike" to the frying pan. How simple it would be if the fish would simply jump into the net—clean itself—go to market and then miraculously appear in your frying pan ready to be cooked! But nature's gifts are never free. Before they become of real value they must be caught, processed and transported to you. Like Natural Gas—it, too, must be caught, processed and transported to you at your burner tips, ready for use. And that's our job here at Oklahoma Natural—providing you with never failing service 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. It's a job that requires the coordinated efforts of over 1900 employees working day and night to assure Oklahoma homes and industries a dependable supply of clean natural gas—the wonder fuel.
